Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Mother's day! Gee, it's been a long time since I saw mother. Slightly under a score and ten years since the boatman with the muffled oars rowed into my harbor of hope and adoration and took her away. If he had had room for another passenger I was ready to go along. He didn't have, so he left me her memory. I still have it. I think that's why the guardian angels have made the going a little easier since she left.

Mother's day! Gee, it's been a long time since I ran errands for mother, did the chores, and got my hand in the cookie jar, as compensation. And the little journeys of help for a tired soul which I would sometimes forget or played truant with—see, how I'd like to do them for her now. You see, when we have mother we are not so thoughtful as we are when we do not have her. We thought we would always have her. I'm just passing this experience on to you young and thoughtless sons and daughters, and there's a lesson in it for father.

Mother's day! You fortunate ones who still have a mother, or at least many of you, have not touched the fountain of her affection, solace, and undying anxiety. That is her cross she carries to the tomb of earthly sacrifice, and endures her sorrow in silence when you are probably out some place engaged in some devilment which would not meet her approval. Don't tell me mother's do not worry. I've seen the marks of anxiety, and smoothed some of them. If you are a good son or a good daughter, I'll bet my last dollar on your character and your citizenship, and your devotion to mother.

Mother's day! I'll tell you when it was Mother's day, and it was long before any legislative or civic formula. It was on those occasions when you returned home for a visit after leaving the family nest. I've seen my mother peeking her head out of the front door, or standing by the gate at the old picket fence, with smiling face and a welcome in her heart, and she never inquired as to my conduct. Most mothers would be hard to convince if you confessed there had been some discrepancies in the deportment. She was there just for the opportunity to give me a welcome home. That's mother's day. When you go back home.

Mother's day! Why, some of you fellows haven't had a Mother's day for so long you wouldn't recognize it if you meet it on the highway. You've thought of everything and mother how she is getting along and tell her that you love her, and that's what she has been waiting to hear. And let me tell you something. That one of these days when you do take the receiver off the telephone, it will be too late to get an answer.

Mother's day! If you have a picture of mother hanging on the wall, or in a frame standing on the mantel place, you take a mental photograph of that picture and hang it in your heart. That way you will always have her with you. It's a good anchor to hold you safely during the storms of life.

Mother's day! We grow old but we never grow away from the incidents of childhood. From the time mother tucked us in bed to the day we started to build a home of our own, mother's love was a constant presence. For mother's love was the love of the tribe of what success he attained at the feet of his sainted mother. Guess a lot of us fellows could have built up a better record if the superiority complex hadn't led us so far away from mother's early training.

Mother's day! Some of the incidents herein related are personal, but they are not different from the experiences you passed through. The mothers you and I knew were the mothers of the sweeter and calmer days. The home was the citadel of affection. Much of our time was spent around the family fireside.

Townsend Party Strength Here Now Over 1200

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension leader, will appear tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the local Townsend hall where he will talk on forming a Townsend political party.

Twelve hundred and fifty-five Townsend party voters in Orange County looked forward today to increasing their number and possibly holding the key to supremacy between Republicans and Democrats.

Registrants in the new Townsend classification, which pension advocates hope will become a party on the August primary ballots, might turn the tide to the Republican party if they become much stronger, but still fail to become a party of their own and register in time for the primaries.

Democrats lead Republicans by 33,030 to 27,556 in the county, County Clerk B. J. Smith's registration figures showed today as of May 1. Total registration of voters qualified to cast ballots in August was 63,614. Rolls for the primary election close July 21.

Other registrations include 1075 declined to state, 239 Prohibition, 286 non-partisan, 70 Socialist, four Communist, 30 Independent, 18 Progressive and one Union party.

Ex-Studio Manager Accused by Actress Of Yacht Seduction

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—William Koenig, former Hollywood film studio manager, was charged with seduction on a palatial yacht on the Pacific ocean, in a $200,000 superior court suit filed today by Gayer Melton, a show girl.

Miss Melton asks $100,000 on the seduction charge and $100,000 for breach of promise.

She charged in the complaint she was induced to "give herself unreservedly" to Koenig near Catalina Island on June 20, 1937, after he had "represented that he ardently admired, loved and desired to marry her."

The complaint set forth that Miss Melton since learned Koenig's representations of intent to marry her were "false and untrue and that the defendant did not at any time intend to marry her and made such representation for the sole purpose of seducing her."

For this "great humiliation, disgrace, reproach, contempt inflicted upon her in body and mind" Miss Melton asked $100,000 damages.

She maintained she was then and now is willing to marry the defendant.

COUNTY WPA WORK BOOMS

Fifteen of the 18 WPA emergency flood projects approved during the past two months for the southern zone have embraced work carried on in Orange county, it was announced today by Harry T. Honn, zone engineer.

The zone includes the southern portion of Los Angeles county and all of Orange county. There are 5204 persons employed on WPA projects in this zone, of whom 1761 are working in this county.

Honn pointed out the emergency projects for Orange county were secured in a minimum time span. He said as a rule it requires six weeks from the time the application is made until it is approved at Washington. One county project was approved, he said, in as short a period as three days.

U.S. Auto Toll Shows Big Drop

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Deaths from automobile accidents declined nearly 20 per cent in the nation's leading cities the first four months of this year, the census bureau reported today.

Veteran Educator Clayton Feted by Friends, 'Old Grads'

More than 300 friends and former pupils of Vice-Principal W. M. Clayton, honored the Santa Ana veteran educator with a remembrance dinner last night at the high school auditorium.

During the meeting the high school athletic field was named after Clayton, who upon his retirement this year celebrates 53 years of service in public schools, 36 of which have been devoted here.

First street alumni presented Clayton with a gold wrist-watch at the close of the evening "in appreciation and sincere gratitude of the 76-year-old mathematics instructor who has touched the lives of people all over the United States." A guest book containing names and addresses of all those present was also given the professor.

Clayton, who was born in England, came to this country in 1892 and has since been a resident of Santa Ana. He was a member of the first street school and was a member of the first street school.

'Mother of 1938' Wins Kiss

Mrs. Grace Noll Crowell, named the "American Mother for 1938" gets a warm salute from her husband, Norman H. Crowell, when they arrived in New York in Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Crowell, selected by the Golden Rule Foundation to represent the nation's mothers at a celebration, is the mother of three sons and a poetess.

DIZZY CHECK CORRALS TWO

Rubber checks — "vulcanized" with a slightly new procedure — were the cause of a $400,000 check fraud in a case involving a pair of women, Miss O'Neil, 26, Buena Park, into the county jail, where hold orders have been placed on them by four Southern California police departments.

Charged with living together in Burbank, the pair also is being held for federal investigation on suspicion of violating the Mann act, following arrest by Santa Ana police yesterday afternoon.

Miss O'Neil is charged with opening a $40 bank account in Fullerton yesterday, then writing two $20 checks on the account here and attempting to pass a third check. Police learned she is wanted on similar charges in San Fernando, where she is charged with passing more than $100 in checks on a $40 account, and in Monrovia, where she allegedly had over $150 in checks on a similar bank account.

Bagwell, reportedly released from San Quentin prison last year, is charged with bringing Miss O'Neil back to Burbank from San Antonio, Tex., for alleged immoral purposes in violation of the federal morals act.

LAYMEN SET FOR DINNER

A joint dinner meeting of all Methodist laymen, and the County Ministerial association and their wives will be held Monday night at the First Methodist church at Sixth and Spurgeon streets starting at 6:45 p. m., at which the Methodist men of Santa Ana will be hosts.

The Rev. Don H. Householder, assistant pastor of the Trinity church, will preside.

Fiesta Dona

Marjorie Kenyon will reign as Dona of Santa Ana Junior college's eleventh annual Fiesta May 20. She defeated her opponent by a wide margin in the primary Thursday and is a member of the Sisterhood of Spinsters, campus service club.

Lumber Dealer Sues on $5000 Note

Suit to collect on a $5000 note was filed today in superior court against J. W. Heinicke, San Clemente lumber dealer. Plaintiff in the suit was the E. K. Wood Lumber company of Upland, holder of the note allegedly signed by Heinicke Nov. 24, 1934.

Heinicke, the complaint alleges, has paid $2341.50 on the amount due, and still owes $2658.20 plus interest.

13 Feeble Minded Found in Box Car

SONOMA, Calif. (AP)—Ten of the 13 youths who escaped from the Sonoma state home for the feeble minded were captured today when officers found them asleep in a box car at Shellville.

'Colonia Juarez' To Fete 'Mothers'

'Colonia Juarez,' a Mexican colony located near Talbert is having a Mother's Day celebration tomorrow at which 300 guests are expected. Refreshments will be served and Matt Lujan, "mayor" of Delhi, will be present to join in the festivities.

Calumet Farms Derby Hope

Bull Lea, brown three-year-old colt by Bull Dog out of Rose Leaves, carries Warren Wright's hopes into the sixty-fourth running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs today.

LABOR UNREST DEVELOPS IN CITRUS RANKS

Growers Worried as Workers Hold Confabs

Unrest among 5000 Mexican citrus pickers worried Orange county growers today on the eve of the annual Valencia picking season.

Lucas Lucio, Mexican consul's representative here, presided at a quiet meeting last night, and several hundred pickers met informally today in Fullerton.

A more formal meeting has been planned for 7 p. m. next Tuesday in a Fullerton church, when representatives of the country American Federation of Labor pickers' union will convene to discuss wage policies and attempt to arrive at an agreement with packing house officials.

Lemos Gonzalez, union officer who revealed plans for the meeting, indicated the group may discuss strike plans in the event they cannot "come to terms" with the growers and packing houses.

Meanwhile, announcement came from the Associated Farmers of Orange county that the growers, many operating under an anticipated decrease in income this year, have gone on record as favoring maintenance of as high a wage schedule as that which prevailed last year.

The farm organization's donation to the Red Cross for food relief, much of which went to Mexican laborers, has reached $8500, according to George Graham, Orange county secretary.

Some members of the farm group have given orders on the 1938 crops through their packing house associations, Graham said.

WPA ENGINEER VISITS OFFICES

Harry T. Honn, recently-named zone engineer for Southern Los Angeles and Orange counties WPA construction projects, visited his Orange county office in the Ramona building yesterday afternoon.

Honn is succeeding J. F. Johnson as engineer. Johnson was promoted to a position in Colonel Connelly's office in Los Angeles. No appointment has been made as yet to fill the vacancy of assistant engineer, which job Honn held under Johnson. No changes in the Orange county WPA personnel are anticipated, Honn said.

Merriam to Lead J.C. Fiesta Parade

Governor Frank F. Merriam has promised to lead the annual Santa Ana Junior college Fiesta parade in a coach, May 20, it was learned today by officials in charge of the celebration.

Jaysee's honored guest Fiesta Day this week visited his nephew Franklin Guthrie, local student, to make arrangements for the occasion.

This will be the governor's first visit at the junior college. He plans to be present for all the activities and will give a short talk on the afternoon program on the campus.

G.O.P. Central Committee to Meet

Republican county central committee will meet Tuesday evening to discuss the recent Riverside convention and other matters, Chairman Howard Irwin of Fullerton announced today.

The session will be in the offices of Milburn Harvey, Santa Ana attorney and secretary of the central committee.

Decision Clears Title Of Legion Site Property

To Preside

CLYDE H. ASHEN

With Clyde Ashen of Santa Ana, state deputy warden, presiding at business session Monday and Tuesday, Santa Ana will be well represented at the 36th annual state council meeting of the Knights of Columbus in Santa Monica.

Grand Knight Walter Markel and Past Grand Knight Ed Heffner are official delegates of the local organization and several other Santa Ana Knights of Columbus will attend the convention as guests.

The convocation opened today with more than 1000 members arriving from all parts of the state for registration and a golf tournament.

The city of Newport Beach today had won title to some $200,000 worth of valuable bay front property as Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warner of San Bernardino decided four cases pending in local courts for almost two years.

The decision by Judge Warner, which heard trial of the title litigation last December, held that lots owned by approximately nine property owners extended only to an alley oceanward from Bay avenue, and not to the avenue nor across the filled land beyond to Newport bay.

His ruling was a victory for the Newport Harbor American Legion post, which has acquired the strip oceanward from Bay avenue from the city and plans to sell the lots and use the proceeds to build a large new clubhouse on the filled waterfront land west of its present headquarters which will be leased to the veterans for 50 years.

Land of the defendants, Judge Warner held, is not waterfront property, and hence their interest ceased at the alley and did not extend across land which later was filled in.

Defendants in the four cases included Robert Fager, Brooker M. Kuffer, Herbert Grensted, Robert S. Butler, Fred A. Wyman, Alice Simmons, Leta Pauline Chapman, Mary F. Carlson and Mary Grace Rendleman.

WELFARE BOARD GIVES WARNING

The monthly report of the Orange welfare board, given at the board meeting Friday afternoon by Executive Secretary Clara Haines, disclosed the fact that numbers of residents from other states are flocking here in the hope of securing work.

She reported that on Wednesday of this week, five families from Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas asked to be given support from the local welfare store until they found work. Mrs. Haines also said this was no unusual number; for the past three weeks she has seen many of such families, many with small children, and with no means of support, seeking aid. The local board can only give food bags and some clothing to these needy visitors, and expressed the hope that some means can be found to keep them in their own states where they may be properly cared for.

Alfred Higgins presided at Friday's meeting.

JAYSEE STOPS FEE CHARGES

Discontinuance of all fees in Santa Ana Junior college courses will be made when Jaysee begins its fall term, Director D. K. Hammond announced today.

Following the example set by most Southern California Junior colleges, no charge will be made to students for any of the courses in the 1938-1939 curricula, Director Hammond explained.

Previous arrangements have made it mandatory for students to pay fees in science courses particularly, he said. Most ranging from $2 to $9 will be saved by students taking certain units of work.

"In former years," the director said, "students have had to pay fees for science and other courses to make them realize their responsibility in college." It was pointed out that many university courses covering the identical material cost from $20 to $30 at the present time.

Jaysee officials also announced that the college catalog for the coming year has been printed and is available for those who desire a copy. They may be obtained by calling for them at the college office, Tenth and Main streets.

City Editor Gives 'Last Scoop,' Dies

SHANGHAI, (AP)—Henry Huffer, city editor of the Shanghai Evening Post, plunged to his death today from the sixth floor of the navy Y. M. C. A., leaving a self-written obituary for his paper.

There was no evidence of the Fox losing his ranking at the top of the list, a position he gained when Stagehand was withdrawn two days ago. One of the first wagers to go through mutual windows was $5 straight bet on the New York owned colt.

The fine condition of the track was evidenced by the time of the six furlong first race when Mrs. R. G. Martin's Bess B., defeated two other cheap players in 1:13 4/5.

By contrast, Lawrin and The Chief ran the same distance in 1:10 3/5, on their way to track record equalling time for a mile last Tuesday.

BILLION SOUGHT FOR FARMERS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The senate appropriations committee considers today a bill appropriating $1,080,000,000 for agricultural purposes in the next fiscal year—the largest amount in the 75 years since the agriculture department was established.

The draft of the bill provides $30,000,000 more than the house approved and calls for $500,000,000 for benefit payments to farmers who comply with the administration's crop control act.

Other items include $25,000,000 for loans to tenant farmers to buy land, $5,000,000 to administer a crop insurance program, $5,500,000 to operate the farm credit administration, and $201,000,000 for federal aid highways.

'Just Joy Riding' Plea Saves Pair

On the presumption they were just "joy-riding" in a friend's car, Carl C. Hastings, 35, Brea, and Mack De Barry, 29, Buena Park, were freed of grand theft charges today.

The charges were dismissed in Santa Ana justice court on motion of Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold McCabe at the request of the complaining witness, Fred Womble, 239 Laurel avenue, Brea.

Councilmen Turn S.A. Press Agents

Four Santa Ana city councilmen turned press agents for the city government yesterday when they addressed students of Guy Harvey's four high school civics classes. City trustees who spoke included Mayor Fred Rowland, Plummer Brown, William Penn and Ernest Layton.

CHINESE GUERRILLAS OPEN ATTACK ON NANTUNGCHOW

Japanese Garrison Near Annihilation
From Desperate Drive of Fighters

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Three thousand Chinese guerrilla troops, fighting recklessly in the streets of Nantungchow, threatened today to annihilate the Japanese garrison of that supply base on the north bank of the Yangtze river, 60 miles north of Shanghai. Japanese reinforcements were rushed from Shanghai in a desperate effort to save the decimated garrison and retain possession of the important base town.

Parents Undecided On Fate of Baby Science 'Condemns'

CHICAGO. (AP)—Baby Helaine Colan lay gurgling in a hospital crib today while her distraught parents wavered on a decision that medical experts said meant life or death for her.

Should they permit an operation that probably would save their five-week-old daughter's life but leave her blind forever, or should they forego the operation and accept certain death?

The answer rested with Dr. Herman Colan, 30, a dentist, and his wife, Estelle, 23.

Dr. Morris Sherman, the child's maternal grandfather, said late yesterday the young parents had reached the fateful decision to "let nature take its course."

But today the father said no final decision had been made.

Baby Colan is afflicted with Glaucoma in both eyes. Physicians said the cancerous growth would spread to her brain and cause death if an operation were not performed. Both eyes would be removed in an operation.

The parents turned to friends, relatives, brain surgeons and a spiritual advisor for help. They received conflicting advice.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

within the influence of mother. Usually the frugality of life forced a close cooperation. They were the days of tedious transportation, simplicity of living, and spiritual meditation. It was out of this close contact the appraisal was obtained, and the long day extended from sunrise to sundown. But they were sunny days, and if you didn't get your share of joy out of them you missed the boat of happiness.

Mother's day
I can tell you about mother's day. Take the seven days in the week and multiply them by 52. Then you'll get a real insight into mother's day. And no amount of flattery can take its place. I'm reconciled to the modern in living, but have no intention of changing my opinion to approve filial neglect, or take from domestic life those finer things which gave us great men and great mothers out of humble homes.

It was Margaret E. Sangster who caught the vision in her poem, titled "Mother."

Pale, withered hands that more than four score years
Had wrought for others, soothed the hurt of tears,
Rocked children's cradles, cured the fever's smart,
Dropped balm of love in many an aching heart;
Now, stress, folded like warm rose leaves pressed,
Above the snow and silence of her breast;
In mute appeal they told of labors done,
And well-earned rest that came at set of sun.

From worn brow the lines of care had swept,
As if an angel's kiss, the while she slept,
Had smoothed the cobweb wrinkles quite away,
And gave back the peace of childhood's day.
And on the lips the faint smile almost said:
"None knows life's secrets but the happy dead."

So, gazing where she lay, we knew that pain
And parting could not cleave her soul again,
And we were sure that they who saw her last
In that dim vista which we call "the past,"
Who never knew her, old and laid aside,
Remembering best the maiden and the bride,
Have swung to greet her with the olden speech,
That dear sweet name no later love can teach,
And "welcome home," they cried, and grasped her hands—
So dwells your mother in the best of lands.

Funeral Rites Set For John Taylor

Funeral services for John Taylor, 82, who died at his home, 324 West Eighteenth street yesterday, will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. from the Episcopal Church of the Messiah at Seventh and Bush streets, with the Rev. H. F. Softley officiating. Mr. Taylor was a carpenter and cabinet maker and had resided in Santa Ana for 39 years.

Mr. Taylor was born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England. He is survived by a son, Albert H. T. Taylor, and a daughter, Mrs. John W. Crawford, both of this city, and another daughter, Mrs. Ernest J. Stanley of Los Angeles; six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

4-H Club Members Set Radio Talks

A radio interview with three Orange county 4-H club members has been scheduled for Monday between 12:15 and 12:30 p. m. over KVOE by the farm adviser's office. It was announced today.

Assistant Farm Adviser Ross Crane will interview Gerald Uhl, Tustin; Sam Bendin, Costa Mesa; and David Flaherty, Santa Ana, about the work of their agricultural projects.

Warding Off Air Raids Held 'Pretty Tough' in America

By DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor

NEW YORK. (AP)—If it ever comes, the job of warding off air raids on the nation's industrial centers may be pretty tough.

The army, which will be up to its neck in a make believe war by this time next week, is discovering that.

In spite of the elaborate preparations which London and other European cities are taking against the possibility of death from the air, such as that visited on Barcelona recently, modern metropolises are wide open targets for war-planes.

"Blacking out"—quenching all lights—is a knotty problem. Human needs must be satisfied. Multiple human activities must go on.

A week from Monday the sleepy little community of Farmingdale, Long Island, will "black out" to simulate wartime conditions during maneuvers of the general headquarters air force, the combat portion of the army air corps.

Two days ago everything was fixed for the stunt. The town fathers said sure, bring on the air-planes. They would douse the lights. The G. H. Q. replied that that was swell. The nation would get a taste of "blackout" for the first time in history.

Then trouble developed. What about the hospital? "It needed light. What about automobile headlights, a dead giveaway for predatory bombing planes?" The law made headlights mandatory.

And if New York City were to "black out," what about the tell-tale lights which would gleam from the sidewalk air vents of the great subway systems? Subways, a logical refuge during air raids, are as black as the inside of a hat without electricity.

Some of the answers were obvious. Black paper on the windows would take care of the hospital. Martial law could govern automobile traffic in case of actual war. Master switches would be placed in the subway after the populace, amply warned against the raid, had fled to their shelter.

But the entire island of Manhattan, silhouetted by the flanking silver ribbons of the East and Hudson rivers, and the city of Pittsburgh, bordered by the Allegheny and the Monongahela, would stand out like sore thumbs to the bombardier of a plane destruction bent.

FDR'S Fishing Trip at End

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—President Roosevelt was homeward bound through the Bahamas today aboard a navy ship well stocked with fish caught off West Caicos island, 800 miles southeast of this port, during six hours of trolling yesterday.

The cruiser, Philadelphia, on which the chief executive and his White House aides are traveling, and the destroyer Fanning, escort ship, will arrive at the navy dock here about 3 p. m. tomorrow. The President will entrain for Washington a couple of hours later and arrive Monday morning.

"Presidential fishing party was out for nearly six hours and made excellent catch of about 60 fish in all," said a radio message from Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre, a member of the party.

Spanish Rebels Open New Drive

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain. (AP)—Spanish insurgents, advancing down the coast toward Castellon De La Plana, inflicted heavy losses on government forces today in a drive that routed them from mountain positions at bayonet point.

Insurgent military reports said the government troops had attempted to infiltrate behind the insurgent lines but were driven back. Heavy rains and wind storms still prevented operations on a large scale.

Dispatches from Hendaye, France, at the Spanish frontier, however, said Insurgent General Miguel Aranda had ordered a general offensive on the zig-zag from east of Teruel to the Mediterranean north of Castellon "rain or no rain."

HOPKINS MAY ASK 3 BILLION FOR RELIEF DURING YEAR

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Congress learned from Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, today that the government's relief program may cost $3,000,000,000 in the next fiscal year instead of $1,000,000,000 as originally estimated by the budget bureau.

Testifying before a house appropriations sub-committee on President Roosevelt's request for $1,250,000,000 to finance work-relief from July 1 to Feb. 1, 1939, Hopkins disclosed he was preparing for a peak load of $3,100,000,000 of relief clients next winter.

Hopkins said the $1,250,000,000 would take care of an average of about 2,600,000 persons until next October and permit an increase up to 3,100,000 during the winter months.

There are approximately 2,600,000 persons on relief rolls now and Hopkins said that with his estimated winter increase there would be an average of 2,800,000 for the seven-months' period.

Questioned what the program would cost if projected for the full fiscal year—from July 1, 1938 to July 1, 1939—Hopkins replied: "In round figures it would be $3,000,000,000 for additional work expenditures for the full year, which is $2,000,000,000 over the budget estimate, if you are projecting it for a full year."

The administrator explained that the WPA program would cost $2,250,000,000 for the full fiscal year, and that in addition other federal agencies engaged in relief and semi-relief activities would need $750,000,000. Hopkins' aides said the administrator was including in this figure proposed public works administration grants, and allotments for the farm security administration and the national youth administration.

PWA BUDGET GETS INCREASE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Members of a house appropriations sub-committee, announcing a decision to increase by $300,000,000 the sum President Roosevelt recommended for public works grants in his lending-spending program, said today this might allow construction of many federal projects.

The subcommittee voted to permit federal grants up to $750,000,000 and loans up to $250,000,000 for locally sponsored projects. Mr. Roosevelt had recommended $450,000,000 for grants and $550,000,000 for loans.

Secretary Ickes told the subcommittee, members said, that many communities would be able to obtain open market loans and would require grants only from PWA. Consequently, they said, the subcommittee increased the grants figure by $300,000,000.

WAGE-HOUR BILL ALLIES JUBILANT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—House proponents of wage-hour legislation, jubilant over the success of their petition to take the bill from the rules committee, demanded today that the house be allowed to consider the measure without further delay.

They asserted the unprecedented demonstration when 218 members, a majority of the house, signed the petition in little more than two hours after it was filed yesterday should be accepted as a mandate for the rules committee to give the bill preferential status.

Under house rules, May 23 is the earliest date the bill could be considered under the petition.

There was considerable doubt, however, even among the bill's supporters, that the rules committee would yield.

DOLE SHORTAGE HITS CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND. (AP)—Indigent Clevelanders, facing prospect of a week-end with gaping larders, besieged relief offices today as officials considered emergency action in an unprecedented local welfare crisis.

"While there are no funds available, no one will starve," said Mayor Harold H. Burton, who summoned his cabinet into conference.

Relief executives said a $50,000 stop-gap appropriation by the city council would be exhausted Monday. This sum was earmarked for only the aged and families with infants or bed-ridden illness.

"We want food!" demanded men and women, some with children in arms, at two relief stations where sit-down protests have been maintained day and night since Thursday.

Mexican Oil Bureau Formed

MEXICO CITY. (AP)—The Mexican government has consolidated its oil properties under one management.

The Petroleos de Mexico, government company which controlled federally-owned lands before expropriation of foreign oil companies, was added to the new national administrative council for the oil industry.

The council was set up to administer the 17 expropriated British, United States and Netherlands oil companies. Amel Santillan, who headed Petroleos de Mexico, was made undersecretary of national economy.

'Whistling Mule' Gets New Windpipe

COATESVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A veterinarian deprived "Pete" of the distinction of being a whistling mule. "Pete" developed a flap windpipe, which hampered breathing and on a hard pull he would whistle loudly. Dr. L. A. Pratt inserted an artificial metal windpipe in "Pete's" neck.

Laboratory May Aid Law in Bassett Case

SEATTLE. (AP)—The law turned to the laboratory today in an effort to bolster its case against Decasto Elster Mayer, accused of the hammer slaying of James Bassett here 10 years ago.

Test tube evidence was sought after an unsuccessful attempt to find where Mrs. Mary Eleanor Smith said she and her son hid Bassett's dismembered body along winding, wooded roadsides north of Seattle.

The 10-year growth of trees and bushes had obliterated all landmarks and the 72-year-old mother's uncertain memory all but convinced officers it would be futile to dig at random for the scattered bones of the wartime army flyer.

Prosecutor B. Gray Warner said he would seek permission from the owner of the ill starred "Little Brown House"—now painted white—where Mrs. Smith said Bassett was killed, to tear up the floorboards.

Criminologist Luke S. May told Warner any blood would have left an indelible, microscopic stain in the cracks of the wood.

Mrs. Smith, her gray hair disheveled, her dark straw hat with imitation flowers on it askew, was staking out her ground through the house and induced her to show them how Bassett died.

What determined authorities to tear up the floor was her statement a rug in the front room, where she said Bassett was killed, had been taken up first, apparently in preparation for the gruesome deed. She had written that Mayer struck Bassett twice from behind with a hammer, then put the body in a bathtub and dissected it while she thoroughly cleaned the house.

Work on rice fields for the new crop in the Sacramento valley, is weeks later than usual.

EUROPE IN GRAVE DOUBT ABOUT HITLER-IL DUCE PARLEY FACTS

German Sources Say One Thing; Italians Another;
Mussolini's Pet Project—4-Power Pact Discussed

ROME. (AP)—Premier Mussolini, according to German sources has agreed to give Germany a free hand in Czechoslovakia, so far as Italy is concerned. Mussolini was said to have promised, during a conversation last night with Reichsfuehrer Hitler, to bring diplomatic pressure to bear upon the Czechoslovakia government to be "reasonable" in meeting German demands.

French and British Move to Appease Europe War Jitters

PARIS. (AP)—French and British diplomats, bound together like their two war machines by last week's talks in London, took action today to treat Europe's war jitters.

The first step was instructions to ambassadors of the two countries to deliver notes to Germany and Czechoslovakia, cautioning them against violence in settling the clamor of Nazi Germans in Czechoslovakia for increased political privileges.

The warning carried the inference that "rough handling" by Germany of the issue of the 3,500,000 German residents in Czechoslovakia almost certainly would cause war.

Sir Neville Henderson, the British ambassador to Berlin, was to see Field Marshall Herman Wilhelm Goering today to convey his government's views to the acting chancellor, in the absence in Italy of Fuehrer Hitler.

HOARE DEFENDS DEMOCRACIES

BLACKPOOL, Eng. (AP)—Sir Samuel Hoare served notice on dictators today he believed democracies will flourish by the side of the "juggernaut machines," if democratic peoples face facts.

The meticulous home secretary, in a speech to a Rotary International club conference, at the same time declared democracies never would countenance for themselves the anti-semitism of the "German dictator" or the "Russian dictator's" distinction between rich and poor.

Without mentioning Italy, he made a strong plea for "good companions" among nations and said this was the root of British foreign policy.

Goga, Ex-Romanian Leader, Dies at 57

BUCHAREST, Rumania. (AP)—Octavian Goga, 57, who headed a Nationalist, anti-Semitic Rumanian government for a few turbulent weeks early this year, died today. Goga, who suffered a heart ailment after his resignation as premier, Feb. 10, had a stroke.

Bomb Threat Made In Kenyette Trial

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—As the trial of Police Capt. Earle E. Kenyette and two subordinate officers on murder conspiracy charges tapered off to a dull finish at the close of the week, Special Prosecutor Joseph L. Finner said he had received another bombing threat.

Finner, who reported being threatened previous to the start of the trial, said the latest threat was telephoned to his office secretary, Ruth Bergen. He said he believed it came from a prankster.

"And they list her: HOUSEWIFE"

On census report, or tax return, she may be listed only "housewife," while her husband bears the more definite title of "lawyer," or "doctor," or "storekeeper."

But housewife hardly does this wife and mother justice. She is the modern Jill-of-all-trades. Her job includes being dietician, interior decorator, costume designer, gardener, chauffeur—not to mention educator and health authority.

How does she get away with it? She is informed! Just as her husband depends upon business news in this paper, she finds in the advertising pages the latest facts and price quotations on all the materials needed for her various jobs.

Food for the family? Butcher and grocer answer on these pages... Curtains, spring dresses for mother and daughter, slip covers? Department store and specialty shop are ready. She has preference about fuels and milk, dental creams and even motor oil—all determined by her persistent, intelligent reading of advertisements.

That's why, when she is termed officially "housewife," she can run six jobs instead of one, and have time left over for amusement and relaxation. (The advertisements help her here too.)

PATROL ASKS LIFEGUARD STATIONS FOR COUNTY BEACHES

PRESENT SQUAD NOT ADEQUATE, SAYS CHIEF

Lamb Seeks County Funds for Service

Establishment of at least four lifeguard stations along unprotected county beaches will be sought by Capt. Dana Lamb of the coast patrol at next week's meeting of the supervisors.

The guards will be requested as an addition to the present rescue truck patrol which goes into operation today for the summer season.

"A single rescue truck can't take care of the thousands of bathers in the unincorporated areas," said Lamb. "The volunteer squad system we tried last year is not adequate."

The coast patrol set up by the county board last year answered 26 calls and is credited with saving four lives. Seventy per cent of all rescue calls to lifeguards were for assistance to inland residents who are not accustomed to swimming.

Lamb reported today that Orange is the only Southern California county without a county lifeguard system. Lamb attended a meeting last week of the Southern California Aquatic conference, where beach problems were discussed.

The patrol chief will recommend two stations in the Sunset beach area, one at Santa Ana river jetty, and one in the Capistrano section as the minimum necessity. He also will ask that two men be placed on the rescue truck.

"Emphasis belongs on prevention of drownings, rather than on attempts to resuscitate victims if this county is to keep the fatality rate low on its beaches," he said.

Cost of the program is estimated at between $5000 and $10,000 for this season and part of next, depending upon how completely it is developed.

Woman Injured in Auto Collision
Sustaining a fractured ankle when she fell from a step at her home in Newport Beach, Mrs. Irene Way was taken to Santa Ana Valley hospital last night. She will be confined in the hospital for several days, attendants said.

U. S. C. EXHIBIT
Through the efforts of Orange county Builders' Exchange, the University of Southern California college of architecture building exhibit will be shown here for another week. The display which has been at Elbel clubhouse will be moved to a store building at 204 North Main street, where it will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily, Monday through Friday of next week.

Death

Americans, Germans, Italians, Moors and Spaniards have given war a real aspect as above scene shows. Death hits a Spaniard.

REALTY BOARD OPPOSES TAX

Opposition to the proposed single tax as a substitute for the state sales tax was voiced by members of the Santa Ana realty board yesterday as they went on record as opposing the petition being circulated in Santa Ana for an initiative on repeal of the sales tax.

The proposed repeal, which would substitute a single tax on unimproved property, would "kill real estate values all over the county," the realtors agreed. Plans for an active fight against the petition will be drafted by a special committee named by President Ray Goodcell.

Adjourning its weekly luncheon at the Rossmore cafe early, the board went to inspect the U. S. C. architectural college's exhibit in the Elbel clubhouse on Santa Ana's projected modernistic Fourth street.

10,000 New Penny Stamps Now at P.O.
The Santa Ana postoffice is in receipt of 10,000 one-cent stamps which are to displace those in circulation. Orange county stamp collectors may secure these by request, Postmaster Frank Harwood said today.

The new issue is similar to the present one, inasmuch as it is the same size and bears a picture of George Washington. The coloring is a slightly different shade.

Pair Faces Trial For License Lack
Juan Barrera and Mario Yorba will face jury trial before Superior Judge H. G. Ames May 25 on charges they drove a car without the owner's consent.

The pair pleaded not guilty yesterday before Presiding Judge James L. Allen to charges they took the auto of J. B. McCune April 15.

WPA Has Job for Construction Boss
The Orange county WPA needs a construction superintendent who has had eight or more years of experience in handling large jobs requiring responsibility, announces Harry T. Honn, southern zone engineer.

Applicants should see Honn at his office in the Ramona building.

Parent Faces Trial For Non-support
J. J. Belardes will face trial before Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen May 24 on charges he failed to support his three minor children, 12, 10 and 7 years old. He pleaded not guilty yesterday before Judge Allen and was released on his own recognizance, pending trial.

Woman Proves Law Is for Her Who Uses Own 'Head'

"Courts aren't for poor people."

That complaint got a stiff up-percut yesterday as a pretty Fullerton bakery worker demonstrated the old "equality under the law" theory.

Mrs. Catherine Nott wanted a divorce from her husband, Arthur. She didn't have attorney's fees. She did a little research, drew her own complaint, took the stand, questioned a witness and got her decree from Judge James L. Allen—in as workmanlike a manner as most attorneys.

Ministers Inspect Santa Ana Hospital

Members of the Santa Ana Ministerial association inspected the Santa Ana Valley hospital yesterday and went on record as supporting and endorsing the institution. At noon they enjoyed a dinner served by hospital officials.

Dr. Emmett Raitt conducted the tour inspection, pointing out the modern equipment used there. Ministers present included: C. M. Aker, B. S. Martin, G. G. Schmid, Calvin A. Duncan, Perry F. Schrock, C. D. Hicks, O. Scott MacFarland, C. E. Holman, J. H. Ogden, Harry E. Oving, A. O. Brubaker, Sam Edgar, A. E. Kelley, Everett E. Johnson, A. F. Bach and Walter S. Buchanan.

Solons Denied Right to Talk
JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—Two United States representatives were denied permission today to make public speeches in Jersey City last night by Public Director Daniel Casey, who described them as "personally obnoxious to the great majority of our citizens because of their communistic endeavors."

Casey said his denial was based on the ground that said meeting would tend to create disorder and disturbance.

Mexico Election Battle Settled
CUERNAVACA, MORELOS, Mexico. (AP)—Governor Jose Refugio Bustamante was suspended from office today in impeachment proceedings by the Morelos state legislature which won over three competing legislatures.

The legislators who removed Refugio Bustamante were accredited last night by the department of interior, settling an election dispute.

There had been since Monday four legislatures, installed in different places, with membership of each claiming election.

Suspect in Hurley Threat 'Examined'
BOSTON. (AP)—A 41-year-old social worker who, Police Captain John F. Stokes said, admitted he wrote a letter threatening Governor Charles F. Hurley's daughter, was taken to psychiatric hospital today for observation.

Stokes, chief of state detectives, identified the man as Edmund E. Farrell of Boston. No charge was lodged against him, pending observation.

I Just Found Out About Fur Business

Springtime has brought Santa Ana women out from under wraps, and by rights the fur business should be slack. But it isn't. Not at the Olive M. Duling furrier on Broadway, the city's only fur-coat specialist, at least—because most of the local fur-wearing women want winter coats cleaned, re-modeled or fixed, then put "on ice" this time of year.

And some of them are buying new spring capes and scarfs—fancy ermine and fox ones. The Duling establishment, which also is a fully equipped factory, sells about as many scarfs as coats, and scarfs are mostly used in spring, summer and fall.

Main idea of the big cold-storage vault, where some 1500 coats were housed last year, is protection against fire, theft, moths and heat (which "dehydrates" pelts, leaves them less pliable).

Average Santa Ana woman's fur coat is worth $100 to $150, and biggest number are Russian squirrel belly (500 to 600 pelts for each coat) Japanese weasel and Kolinsky (about 150 pelts per coat), and caracul (40 to 65 pelts from either Persian lamb or Asiatic kid).

Fur sales fall in about four brackets: Top popular bracket is mink and ermine, majority of buyers being professional men's wives; next are better caraculs, Kolinsky, weasel (going largely to professional women); third are squirrel belly, muskrat and high-class lapins (average housewife), and fourth bracket is lapin (for laborers' wives).

Mrs. Oliver Duling Wright, proprietor of the local furrier, buys a trip nearly every year back into the northwoods where majority of the domestic furs are trapped, have made first hand studies of fur-bearing animals' history, locale and habits.

Most high-priced pelts are imported, bought at auction by big jobbers, reauctioned to wholesalers, then sold again to many factors. Costliest furs (by the pelt, not by the coat) are Chin-chilla, then sable, sea otter, silver fox, baum marten, fisher, stone marten eastern mink, Kolinsky, badger, ermine.

Reason ermine coats are so expensive is that each one requires 200 to 300 pelts most of which come from the mountain countries of Europe and Asia. Good mink coats (costing from $1500 to $5000) use from 100 to 125 pelts worth $30 to $45 each. Chin-chilla pelts cost from $150 up. Leopard coats use fewest number of pelts, require skins of about eight animals.

Only fur animals raised commercially to any extent are silver, cross and red foxes, Russian chinchilla, eastern mink and a few chinchillas. Foreign-trapped pelts often are cheaper than the rarer ones from this country. Closest popular-priced animal to the mink, for instance, is Kolinsky (gets its name from Russia's Kola peninsula), an Asiatic species of mink.

Fur coat manufacture Mrs. Wright explains, starts with sorting of pelts, selecting enough of those that match to make a coat. They're given to a "cutter" (highest priced craftsman in the business), who cuts off bad places, fits them like a jig-saw puzzle into a pattern chalked on a cutting table. Hardest part of cutting is to piece pelts together so their coloring matches and so the seams don't show on the outside. (Mink is hardest coat to cut, since each pelt has many different shades).

The cutter pins the arrangement of pelts together, turns it over to an "operator" who sews them together, hands them back to the cutter for inspection and alterations before they go to a "nailer." The nailer draws a new more accurate pattern, puts a solution on the "plate of pelts" to soften it, stretches it slightly to smooth it out, nails it to a board and sets it aside to dry.

The plate then goes to a "squarer" who squares off the edges according to a final pattern, gives it back to the cutter for another inspection. Next, the operator "joins" the coat and gives it to a finisher who puts in the lining, buttons, etc.

Average waste in coat-making amounts to nearly 40 per cent of each pelt, since tappers and native workers often aren't too careful in their handling, leave bad places that must be cut out.

Best way to make a fur coat live to a ripe old age, Mrs. Wright claims, is to wear it loosely (fur fibers rub and chafe if the coat's too tight), and to have it cleaned at least once a year (soiled fur tends to stick together).

LEGION BOOSTS G-MEN'S CAUSE
INDIANAPOLIS. (AP)—The American Legion national executive committee asked the President and congress in a resolution today to provide emergency funds to prevent curtailment of the federal bureau of investigation's activities and praised the bureau as "the keystone of national law enforcement in criminal fields."

The committee's resolution, adopted at the closing session of the annual two day spring meeting last night, said:

"It is currently reported that activities of the G-men's bureau must be curtailed 50 per cent for the next 60 days because of lack of funds. This would mean delay in handling 10,198 cases and may mean that many of the $298 additional cases now awaiting investigation may never be handled."

PAROLE VIOLATOR
Elmer A. James, 44, Hollywood, was arrested on a Los Angeles warrant charging violation of a felony probation yesterday. Seal Beach police made the arrest and booked James in the county jail.

IMMIGRATION ARREST
Federal authorities booked Meliton Ortiz, 36, Mexicali, on a charge of violating the immigration act, and Salvatore Heredia, 35, Stafford street, Santa Ana, on an illegal entry charge in the county jail here yesterday.

Two Charged With Short Change Try
An alleged short-change trick had landed James Talley, 32, Inglewood, and Lester K. Roberson, 31, Walnut Park, in county jail today following their arrest on charges of vagrancy and attempted petty theft.

The men were arrested by Santa Ana police at the Santiago creek bridge on North Main street after an Anaheim druggist reported the short-change attempt. Anaheim police sent out a description of the car in a radio broadcast. A Santa Ana patrol car picked up the call and nabbed the pair less than 10 minutes after the theft was reported.

FIFTH STARTER ENTERS RACE FOR D. A. JOB
By FRANK ORR
At least five sure starters were grooming themselves today for the district attorney's race in the August primaries, which if the field keeps expanding ought to be a free-for-all.

Latest candidacy to loom up—and one not even hinted at until the past few days—is that of Alex P. Nelson, district attorney from 1921 to 1927, who reportedly will fling his fedora into the ring soon in a crack at getting Dist. Atty. Bill Menton's job.

Nelson was appointed to the post in 1921 and was elected two years later. He didn't run for reelection to that job, but tried for the judgeship then held by Judge Thomas. He was squeezed out in the primaries by Thomas and by James L. Allen, who won the election in the final. Bert West succeeded Nelson as district attorney.

Nelson will draw strong support from several groups, which he hopes will elect him, given the right breaks in the open field.

His candidacy, like the reported candidacies of Maxwell Burke and Joel Ogle of Santa Ana, pleases the north-county aspirants, Elmer Guy and George Holden. Should Santa Ana be split enough, they figure, their chances will be much better.

To date Guy and Holden are the only announced candidates. Menton, Nelson and Ogle may be heard from shortly, with Burke and Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold McCabe still silent.

Store Employees Foil Bunco Plot
Attendants at Rankin's department store yesterday interrupted what police termed "the old bunco game."

A man ordered some dresses delivered on approval to 1711 North Baker street, but store officials were suspicious and delivered the dresses at the wrong time. The house appeared to be vacant.

Neighbors told police the man had been sitting on the porch at the vacant house during the morning, but had left before the store employee arrived with the dresses.

S. A. Traffic School Entries Warned by Judge 'It's Law'
Minors ordered to attend the Santa Ana traffic school will hereafter comply, or face further penalties from Judge H. G. Ames' juvenile court, according to Gerry Lockner, supervisor of the traffic safety education, department of motor vehicles.

Lockner is in Santa Ana today assisting local officials in perfecting an iron-clad system of certifying juvenile traffic violators to the school. He said Judge Ames has promised the fullest cooperation with other authorities in the matter. Before Monday he will visit other judges here.

Lockner came to Santa Ana at the invitation of Chairman Elmer Heidt of the city traffic safety commission, which group placed the school in operation several weeks ago.

Officials connected with the school complained that several parents, whose youngsters had been sent to the course, were finding ways of keeping the children out of the class.

Lockner is scheduled to appear before the traffic safety committee at a meeting next Monday in the city hall to discuss problems of traffic education here.

PETERSON TO HEAD COUNTY PRINCIPALS

EL MODENA.—John Peterson, principal of Oceanview school, was elected president of the Rural Principals' association last night, when the group met in the Roosevelt school here. Other officers elected were Richard Harris, of Olive, vice president, and Mrs. Frieda Keeler of the Diamond school, secretary-treasurer.

Vierling Kersey, superintendent of Los Angeles schools and former state superintendent of schools, spoke on "The Elementary Child Faces High School." He deplored the gap between the departments and also between high school and college. The junior high school was an attempt to smooth this gap, but has not succeeded particularly well, he added.

Stanley Kurtz, principal of the Mexican school in El Modena, sang two numbers, and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Marie Hare of Garden Grove, outgoing president. The meeting opened with a 6:30 dinner.

Clemente Casino To Open Tonight

SAN CLEMENTE.—Sponsored by the San Clemente chapter of commerce, the grand opening of the San Clemente Casino has been set for tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Paul Pound and his orchestra will play at the opening event of the spring season, officials said.

LUMBER FIRE

ORANGE.—State forestry trucks saved most of a pile of bridge planking which had been unloaded near a small ravine in Orange Park Acres Friday morning. State Forester Joe Scherman said the loss probably would not exceed $100.

News About El Toro Folks

By MRS. CARRIE G. DREWS

Another wedding! William Howard, who attended as a boy our little village school, and Miss Evelyn Wilson of Santa Ana, were married Sunday, May 1st, at 2:30 in the afternoon at the Old Mission in San Juan Capistrano. Their attendants were Miss Ester and Raymond Jauregui, the bridegroom's cousins. A reception was held for them at the El Padre cafe in San Juan Capistrano, after which the bride and groom slipped away to parts unknown for their honeymoon. The couple expects to make their home in El Toro.

L. F. Moulton was again showered with May baskets and flowers May night, by friends and neighbors of this community, who hold great love for him, for him; he having always been one of the best neighbors any community could ever have. Mr. and Mrs. George K. Fox conveying the flowers to him and spending a most delightful evening there.

Louise Moulton is home recuperating from her operation and after a few days' rest and quiet expects to return to college.

Mrs. Juanita (Daguerre) Sydel has undergone another operation, but is reported as getting along very nicely.

We are happy to report that John Osterman is again riding about the country, and enjoying California's beautiful scenery, fresh air and sunshine.

It seems there was quite a little confusion in the minds of many for awhile, as to the identity of Robert B. Thomas, 45, C. C. C. veteran, who was killed by the train here Sunday night, with one of our neighbors, Robert E. Thomas, also about 45, who has lived here with his family for many years. We are glad that Robert E. is still alive and with us.

It is said that the war veterans have been in the habit of walking down the railroad track and through the gum grove at the back of the camp late at night, instead of following the road, so as to avoid disturbing the slumbers of their captain. Hence, this tragedy.

Lots of visitors Sunday. And among them were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Moore of Santa Ana, visiting her mother, Mrs. Myrtle House; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Waterman of Buena Park, visiting his parents, and Mr. Jean Johnson and Miss Evelyn Jacobs of Santa Ana, visiting Oscar, Scott, and family.

The ladies of the El Toro Woman's club had a jolly time in the hall Wednesday, quilting, chatting and partaking of a delightful lunch. Mrs. H. Bennett and Mrs. George Fox entertaining. Those visiting were Mrs. Kate (Munger) Rose, of Santa Ana, Mrs. Albert Farnsworth and Evelyn Bennett, both of El Toro.

After the meeting the quilt was taken to the home of Mrs. Annabell Whisler, where her friends and club members are welcome to drop in and work on it, whenever they can.

The El Toro elementary school had an exhibit of school work on Friday, April 29. In it were many things of interest. And among them, lovely pieces of wood burning, wood work and wood carving.

The visitors for the day were Mrs. Rose Rubens, Mrs. B. W. Osterman, Mrs. Foster Prather, Mrs. Catherine Errota, Miss Grace Etcheberry, Miss Katherine Ustari, Mrs. Estell Burgard, Mrs. Ray Serrano, Mrs. Frank Serrano, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. Housner, Mrs. R. H. ## BUILDING HEADS VISIT HARBOR

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Following a recent meeting when W. O. Harris of the Federal Housing administration addressed a joint meeting of the Service club, chamber of commerce and realty board, a special committee appointed at that time met with J. W. Salmon, Charles D. Clark and H. A. Davidson, all officials of the housing administration and discussed extending of housing loans to added areas within Newport Beach.

Following the luncheon the visitors made a tour of the district in company with members of the committee and expressed themselves at being delighted with the progress which was being made in construction lines.

The meeting at noon was presided over by P. A. Palmer, president of the realty board, and chairman of the joint committee, and members of the committee represented a complete cross-section of the construction and development units in the harbor area.

Considerable time was spent in explaining the details of the act to encourage home building and the special advantages of the community were pointed out forcibly by various members of the local committee.

'Y' PARLEY SET AT HARBOR

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—The annual conference of the Y.M.C.A. boys work secretaries will be held at Mar Casa, Balboa Island, Sunday and Monday, according to James B. Wilbur, secretary of the Anaheim Y.

Following the usual custom, the secretaries and their wives will be guests of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce for a tour of inspection of Newport harbor. The trip will be made Sunday afternoon or evening.

Y.M.C.A. physical directors throughout Southern California also will gather at Mar Casa immediately following the boys' work conference group. The growing importance of the Mar Casa as a gathering point for church workers and other groups of social and intellectual workers is acknowledged in all parts of Southern California.

Dorothy Decker of Santa Ana, new president of the district, will be the installing officer. An emblem ceremony will be conducted by Miss Bertha Youngs. Miss Blanche Patton will play cello solos as part of the musical program. The program will open with a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

At that time is a high tide, and poppas—especially those who wish to go surfing, will find a high tide, a lovely one, at that hour. She'll be 4.5 feet, which is a medium tide, at about the perfect time to do some high-handed heaving of sinkers. The other high is at 4:32 a. m. which is too early to interest the most of us.

I'll see you about sundown along the surf, huh?

Admiral D. W. King, fishing boat magnate at Newport, rushed by a while ago with his hair full of fish scales. He was so excited he didn't know what to do.

His fleet, which includes the famous "Sunshine" and "Valencia," has been bringing in almost as many yellowtail as even the Los Angeles drugstore fishermen want. One of the livebaits brought in 34 yesterday!

Who wants to go clear down to San Diego for fishing now?

Darrell also emphatically denied a report circulated by someone that his boats aren't leaving Newport pier any more. Somebody or other told a guy who told me that the pier landing was damaged by high waves. But she's in as good shape as ever!

Bob Boyd, who weeps bitter tears every time he sails a boat for Southern Coast at Newport, just gave me some warm news also concerning the fishing business.

One of the beautiful Wheeler cruisers he'd just sold left for Catalina yesterday afternoon on a trial run. He was keeping in touch with the owner via ship-to-shore radiophone, and the owner said just as they left Newport they were dropped over a couple of lines—just for fun—and brought in barracuda as fast as they could get the lines back in the water!

Which reminds me—I hope Bob doesn't forget the sort halfway promised to take me fishing one of these days!

Speaking of boats, my friend Harbormaster Tommy (Pelican) Bouchey has issued orders for mooring small boats in the bay. This should be of interest to everyone who owns, or contemplates owning a boat and keeping it in the harbor. So here's what he says, in official language:

1. All small boats not already registered with the Federal Government such as row boats, sail boats, etc., must register and receive a number for same from the harbor department.

2. Number awarded must be painted on boat.

3. All boats must have moorings.

4. All mooring buoys to be painted white above the water line.

5. No mooring to be installed without permission of harbor department.

6. Boat number must be painted

MIDWAY CITY.—The Intermediate Christian Endeavor of the Midway City Community church will present a Mother's day program in the church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mothers of the young people have been invited to attend as special guests.

The program will consist of a talk by Forrest Hart, scripture reading by Dick Miller; a story by Thelma Steen; "One Mother's Legacy," by Mary Ellen Morgan; piano solo by Robert Prichard, and "Secrets of Mother Power," a play in which Pauline Birdwell and Geraldine Logan are cast as young mothers. Doris Hart is the "spirit of the song," and Mrs. Nels Nelson and Mrs. Clifford Jones are singers. The Rev. C. N. Jones will give a sermonette.

Following the program a fellowship hour will be held during which time tea will be served.

MIDWAY CITY.—A dinner party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Fury Wednesday evening marked the 11th birthday of their daughter, Muriel Fury.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foley, Neil Foley, Doris Jean Foley, Wayne Fury, Ralph Fury, Caroline Fury and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howton of Long Beach.

ATTEND WEDDING.—COSTA MESA.—Miss Willa Brevander, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Greener, was married this week to Richard Rundle, the ceremony being performed in the Santa Ana Wedding chapel.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom attended a reception at Swanson's. Costa Mesa guests included Mr. and Mrs. Greener and the latter's mother, Mrs. Resi Schwaiger.

ALONG ORANGE COUNTY'S WATER FRONT

Dear, oh dear, my, my and gee

Plus a couple of gollies.

The fishing season has arrived in the largest way than for many years.

Seafood dinners are virtually jumping into boats. Fish are standing on their tails and yammering for food, almost. Anglers are going stark, raving mad. Also almost.

Which, all in all, means that summer angling has finally started with a rush.

As many yellowtail as two men and a small boy can carry are being brought in on each livebait boat. Big ones, weighing between 16 and 20 pounds. And, in case you don't know, having the misfortune to tie into one of those critters is like being hooked to a keg of powder which has just been sitting on a pin. Meaning they're kinda lively.

And the barracuda! I've run out of adjectives, or whatever you use in talking about fish, but they are also catching them, large quantities and large fish. The scooters range in weight from nine to 11 pounds. Which is a full-course meal with one swipe!

Surfing, too, has shown considerable pickup during the past week.

A good batch of corbina was snaked in yesterday near the Balboa pier.

Yellowfin, fair-to-middlin' small ones, have been biting very well from in front of the Newport grammar school to Ninety-sixth street. They've been catching 'em on salt anchovies.

In the bay, things are still humming. Fine catches of spotfin, fine catches of yellowfin and fine catches of halibut. Clams and salt anchovies for bait.

The upper bay area, mostly around Heinz Kaiser's Bayshore camp, is still very popular. And I see some people trying to cast heavy sinkers clear over Paul Palmer's Lido Isle, too.

But the fishing's swell everywhere. Have a try at it!

But, just as a word to the inexperienced, I'd advise purchase of a fishing license before you do too much surf or bay fishing. Wardens have been seen wandering around with that look in their eyes which may lead to trouble for unlicensed anglers. You can count on it costing at least seven bucks if you get caught, too. The minimum fine is $10, with local judges usually suspending five of that if the victim'll buy a license immediately-like.

Husbands will be absent from home at 5:37 o'clock tomorrow evening.

At that time is a high tide, and poppas—especially those who wish to go surfing, will find a high tide, a lovely one, at that hour. She'll be 4.5 feet, which is a medium tide, at about the perfect time to do some high-handed heaving of sinkers. The other high is at 4:32 a. m. which is too early to interest the most of us.

PORT FLOWER PLANS TOLD

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Added attractions for the Newport harbor district flower show have been announced by the chairman of the committee in charge, Mrs. Winifred M. Young.

Students of the Newport Harbor High school and grammar school have been at work designing a number of posters which will be placed on display and for which a special group of judges have been appointed. Judges will be H. L. Sherman and Guy L. Chapman of Balboa and Shelby Coon of Balboa Island.

The flower exhibit will open Saturday, May 14, at noon but exhibitors are urged to bring in their entries by 10 o'clock that morning in order that proper placing can be made of all the entries. Flower arrangements will be featured and special awards will be made in this class and for the school students there are separate classes in display of flowers as well as in flower arrangements. Judges are Mrs. Charles S. Huff, chairman of the Laguna Beach Garden club and also state chairman of the Santa Ana California; Mrs. Alfred H. Halleck and Mrs. H. Cardozo Sloan of Corona del Mar.

Working on the general committee for the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce and the Newport Beach Ebell club in addition to Mrs. Young are Mrs. C. M. Dinkins, Mrs. A. C. Hottinger, Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. William McKay, Mrs. Susan B. Rutherford, Miss Lila Davis and R. M. Worley.

DINNER GUESTS

COSTA MESA.—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cray and son, Kenneth, Long Beach, were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Joseph, the occasion noting Cray's birthday.

Peggy O'Toole whose parents died when she was a child has grown up in humble circumstances in New York. She becomes engaged to a taxi driver, Jimmie Butler then learns that he is George Meredith prodigal son of the wealthy Peter Meredith. She is given reason to believe that he does not really love her and breaks their engagement. Immediately afterward, she is badly injured in an accident. The doctors say she may never walk again. Jimmie begs her to renew their engagement. She thinks his proposal is prompted by pity so she refuses him. Meanwhile the accident has united her with her wealthy grandparents, whom she had never seen her mother having been estranged from them. They decide to take her to Paris where there is a specialist who, they hope, can do something for her.

"Votre bourse mademoiselle." He bowed nodding her the purse. "Oh thank you—I mean, merci monsieur," Peggy gasped. "Vos bourses tres-tres—?" She hesitated for the word. "Pas du tout mademoiselle," he said gallantly then burst into a stream of words that Peggy was unable to follow. She looked at her companion. "What did he say Tucky?" "Miss Tucker shook her head. "It doesn't sound like any French I've ever heard."

"Nor is it!" the young man said gaily. "I am not French, sir, but Italian."

"Oh! And you speak English, too!" Peggy gasped. "You—you were just teasing me!"

He laughed. "Forgive me, signorina. And permit me to translate. I was saying—if I may be so bold—that I think you are a very charming young lady!"

Peggy blushed. "Thank you!"

He indicated the bench beside her chair. "May I?" he asked. "How could I refuse?" Peggy could not miss Tucker's hostile stare. "It is time we were returning to the hotel," she said, giving the young officer a look of extreme disfavor.

As she quickly wheeled Peggy away she added loudly: "I don't know what your grandfather would say if he knew you were picking up strange young men!"

CHAPTER XX

IT WAS springtime in Paris. Sunshine flung its golden banner over the park. Joyous harbingers of the new season birds darted chattering from tree to tree.

The girl in the wheel chair in this sunny corner of the park was very lovely and a young man in military uniform seated on a nearby bench was interested. She seemed rather bored. He decided by the look that her obviously English companion was reading to her now and then she threw a handful of feed from a paper bag on her lap to a group of greedily hovering pigeons.

WOMEN PLAN MAY LUNCHEON

The Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will hold its annual May luncheon in the social room of the church, next Wednesday at 12:30 p. m., to be preceded by a meeting of the executive committee at 11 a. m. Mrs. H. P. Rankin will lead the devotion, and the Lyric Trio will present a special musical program. Trio members are Mrs. Jack Snow, Mrs. Blanche Owens and Mrs. Harry Hayes, with Miss Lenora Tompkins as accompanist. Guest speakers of the day will be Mrs. Charles A. Lewis of China, and Dr. and Mrs. Roy H. Brown of Silliman Institute, Philippine Islands. All the women of the church are cordially invited to attend, and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. A. J. Alberts or Mrs. M. B. Youel.

Southern Baptists Set Convention

Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks of Santa Ana will preside at the Southern California Baptist convention to be held at the First Baptist church of Riverside May 16, 17 and 18. Another local woman taking part in convention activities will be Miss Lula Minter of the committee on revision, who will report during the business session on the sixteenth.

The Rev. Harry Evan Owings will give the convention sermon during the morning session on May 17, on the topic, "We Look in Three Directions."

Ireland Cleric To Preach Sunday

Rev. Alexander Barkley of Ballymore, County Antrim, Ireland, who will be guest preacher at the Reformed Presbyterian church at both morning and evening services tomorrow is the house guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Edgar.

Rev. Barkley has just completed his theological studies in Pittsburgh and is on his way to Seattle.

Church Notes

THE BIBLE—Its Simple Treasures

(Paraphrased to Include Modern Thought and Action)

(A Verse a Day May Keep Sin Away)

PSALMS
(Verse 7)
(Chapter 2)
I will declare the decree: the Lord hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee.

MODERN VERSION
The Psalms were conceived long before Jesus was born in the stable of Bethlehem. Bible students remember what Jesus said when his powers were disrupted—"Before Abraham was I am." Despite the fact that the Psalms preceded Jesus' actual entry into the world, Jesus was "I am." He might just as well have said "before David (writer of the Psalms) was, I am." This day have I begotten thee. Jesus, if you have more faith than doubt, was from the beginning of time—not from the beginning of the so-called Christian era but from the beginning of all time. "Thou art my Son," sings David long before even David knew there would be a Man come into the world to be crucified. He was crucified because, in His simplicity, He could not convince the doubters of His God-given power. Christ knew this and He also knew it would be needless for Him to try and explain. Even when He stood before Pilate and was asked "what is the truth?" He replied, "I am the truth"—and they doubted. Only doubt stands between you and Christ.

JAYSEE CHOIR IN SING FEST

Among the six Southern California junior colleges which will participate in the annual Southland Music festival tonight at Long Beach is Santa Ana Junior college's a capella choir under the direction of Alan A. Revell.

Over 450 junior college student musicians will gather for the gala day of en masse choral and instrumental festivities. They will represent Long Beach, Compton, Fullerton, Glendale, Los Angeles, and Santa Ana Jaysees.

Revell, music instructor at the local college, will direct a section of musical numbers of the massed voices. Numbers which he will lead include "Children Come on Home" (Noble Cant), "Echo Song" (DeLassus), and "Hospodi Pomili" (Lovsky).

The program will be broadcast from 11:30 a. m. to 12 noon over KNX.

Culminating event of the all day festival will be a concert in the evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Long Beach Municipal auditorium.

Scenes From 'In Old Chicago' New One at West Coast

Mrs. O'Leary's cow started something when she kicked over the lamp back in 1854. Pretty much the entire town burned. The motion picture camera has recorded a re-enactment of the fire with a melodrama woven around it that made critics and public alike rave about its entertainment value. Alice Brady, one of the actresses in the cast received the Academy award for her fine work in this picture.

'Guns and Guitars' at State

Gene Autry and Dorothy Dix are two of the stars who will flash over the screen Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Broadway Future Program Listed

"Sinners in Paradise," comes to the screen of the Broadway theater next Thursday with the adventure film, "Call of the Yukon." Roles are taken by Madge Evans, John Boles, Bruce Cabot, Marion

The second feature will be "Call of the Yukon," telling the story of a young girl writer who becomes stranded in the wilds of Alaska. The cast includes Richard Arlen, Beverly Roberts, Lyle Talbot and the dog, Swift Lightning.

WALKER'S GETS DEANNA DURBIN

One of the most likable youngsters (not excepting Shirley Temple) comes flickering over the silver sheet at Walker's, beginning tomorrow, in "Mad About Music," which has been heralded as something to see and hear.

"Mama Runs Wild" is another new one due at the same time and place, with Mary Boland, Ernest Truex, William Henry and Lynn Roberts. It's comedy, of course, if you know your Bolands and Truexes.

The program will run tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday.

'Sally, Irene, Mary' Due at Walker's

A treat seems to be in store for patrons of Walker's theater who can't get enough of music with their screen fare. "Sally, Irene and Mary," with Alice Faye, Tony Martin and Fred Allen, that radio stand-out, in the cast, "I Met My Love Again," with Joan Bennett and Henry Fonda, "Daffy Duck and Egghead," colored cartoon and Newsreel are on the same bill. This bill runs Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Treasure Chest," as usual, Thursday night.

West Coast Books Joe Brown Picture

Joe E. Brown appears as a crook-catching soda jerker in his newest comedy, "Wide Open Faces," due for a showing at the West Coast theater starting next Wednesday. The cast includes Lyda Roberti, Alison Skipworth, Jane Wyman, Alan Baxter and Berton Churchill.

The second attraction will be "Love, Honor and Behave," with Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane. Dick Foran and John Littel are featured.

West Coast Lists Future Film Fare

The rivalry between different cousins for the affections of a New York night club beauty threads a hectic course in "Vivacious Lady," starring Ginger Rogers and James Stewart, which will open at the West Coast theater on Sunday, May 15.

"The Crime of Dr. Hallet," will be the second film. The cast will include Ralph Bellamy, William Gargan, Josephine Hutchinson and Barbara Read.

Isa Miranda is helping herself to learn English at 10 cents a word.

The blonde Italian, who makes her American film debut in Paramount's "Zaza," visits the five- and ten-cent stores, looks around until she sees a familiar object for which she doesn't know the English name. Pointing to it, she asks the clerk what it is. The clerk tells her. She repeats the word until she has it. And then she takes the object home with her to impress it on her mind.

HOLLYWOOD Sights and Sounds By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—You can see Freddie Bartholomew working on the Metro lot again, but you ask about Ronald Sinclair and people out here look a little vague.

"He isn't with us any more," they say.

Ronald's the lad who was supposed to take Freddie's place in pictures when Freddie's Aunt Mylicent took him out on strike. Ronald, singularly like Freddie in appearance and manner, made one picture called "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry." And then Freddie came back.

It's that same old movie game they've been playing since the days when producers woke up to find that their anonymous screen players had been made into "stars" by nickelodeon fans. And they're still playing it no less craftily, no more subtly.

When Gladys Smith became Mary Pickford and started mooning, in her practical way, about the huge fortune she should take from pictures, somebody discovered Mary Miles Minter, whose career was just as nice as Gladys Smith's. Gladys went on and got her millions, and in this case Mary Miles Minter caught on with the public too. But it doesn't always work that way.

Every studio likes to have under contract, at the proper time, a personality it can promote as an ace in the hole or a bluffing threat in the movie poker game. It's supposed to help keep stars in line.

When Metro wasn't sure of Garbo's return, its sheltered ace was Tala Birell, blonde Viennese whose resemblance to the Swede is marked even now when she's trying to alter it for her independent career. Garbo came back.

When Valentino quarreled with Paramount, the bosses there recruited a young fellow named Jacob Krantz, rechristened him Ricardo Cortez, and started a "great lover" build-up. Valentino didn't come back, but Cortez was launched on a long and profitable career.

Over George Raft's rebellious head was hung the threat of Jack LaRue, but not very effectively from the studio point of view. LaRue played an occasional Raft role, but Raft—when he came back—always got what he wanted.

Julie Hayden is having success on Broadway now, after Hollywood used her badly. Julie was elated one day when RKO signed her—but next day she knew the reason. Her resemblance to Ann Harding was being capitalized. Ann then being in one of her several studio battles, Julie caused dismay by refusing to play ace in the hole—and bobbing her hair.

State Announces Future Program

Coming to the State theater for Wednesday and Thursday for a return engagement will be "Mississippi," "The Invisible Menace," with Regis Toomey and Marie Wilson and a short, "Arnold Johnson and His Orchestra."

BAD CHECK CONVICTION
A. W. Elmslie today was awaiting probation hearing May 13 on a bad check charge, following a guilty plea before Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday afternoon. Elmslie admitted passing the check for $11, on Victor Terry last Dec. 27.

Three Standouts in Walker's New Program

Bing Crosby to Chirp at Broadway

"Dr. Rhythm" is the singer-horse owner-radio star's latest musical. Bing has in support the pearl-blondie Mary Carlisle and Comedienne Beatrice Lillie in support. One of Bing's standouts in the song list is "My Heart Is Taking Lessons." Bing and Mary are seen above.

BING CROSBY AT BROADWAY

"Doctor Rhythm" comes to the screen of the Broadway theater tomorrow. Bing Crosby, Beatrice Lillie and Mary Carlisle have the leading roles. It is adapted from an O. Henry story.

Louis Armstrong and his swing band, paces the mad comedy, and Andy Devine, Laura Hope Crews and Sterling Holloway have roles. The political troubles into which victor Moore and Allan Lane are plunged when Lane tries to run Moore for the mayoralty of a small town comprise the exciting basis of "This Marriage Business," the second offering. Vicki Lester has the leading feminine role.

'ARTISTS' OPEN STATE PROGRAM

"Artists and Models," including favorite artists and models, such as Jack Benny, Ida Lupino, Gail Patrick, Richard Arlen, Louis Armstrong's orchestra, Martha Raye, Peter Arno, McClelland Barclay, Arthur William Brown, Rube Goldberg, John LaGatta and Russell Patterson—to name some of 'em—all pitch into make the State's new offering an attraction.

Gene Autry in "Guns and Guitars" is the second feature with Chapter 5 of the serial, "Radio Patrol" thrown in for good measure.

The bill opens tomorrow and runs through Monday and Tuesday.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, Townsend pension plan chieftain, will speak at the local headquarters of the organization tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced this morning by J. H. Walsh, special Townsend party representative.

Townsend, who has just returned from Washington, D. C., will talk on the new political party which his followers are forming.

The auditorium, where he will appear, is situated at 509 W. Fourth street. Walsh said loud-speakers will be placed outside the hall so that the overflow crowd anticipated may hear his address.

Dr. Townsend arrived on the Pacific coast Wednesday and will be the chief speaker at a Nineteenth District Townsend meeting tomorrow which will be held in the Riverside City Civic auditorium at 2 p. m. Arrangements have been made for Madame Mamie Stark of Los Angeles to put on a song program accompanied by Mrs. Evangeline Burnham. Dr. Charles E. Hill and other well known Townsend leaders will participate in the program. The Orange county Townsend clubs have been notified of the doctor's desire that they all have delegations present as he will deliver a very important message.

Broadway Program Closes Tonight

"Judge Hardy's Children," third in the popular "Judge Hardy Family" series, closes a successful engagement at the Broadway theater tonight. Lewis Stone plays Judge Hardy, Mickey Rooney and Cecilia Parker portray his children, Fay Holden is the wife and Betty Ross Clarke the aunt.

"Maid's Night Out," the second film, introduces Joan Fontaine and Allan Lane.

Movie Makers Aware 'He-Man' Stuff Pretty Good

By THE RAMBLER

That "new cycle" mania which seems to hit Hollywood between the eyes every now and then threatens again—not only threatens but seems to be a reality.

The big, he-man, outdoor drama has its day every now and then.

Oldtimers can go back to the silent days when Rex Beach's "The Barrier" and "Bar Sinister" and the old Triangle company's civil war dramas with Charley Ray as the bouncing juvenile and Lewis Stone, now so popular in the "Hardy Family" series, knocking 'em dead with his very fine acting (he's just as very fine today), were popular. The secret of Stone's success is his naturalness—he never acts—he's himself on and off the screen. Some of these young bucks who rage all over the screen, to be sure, should take a very profitable lesson from watching Stone.

Getting back to this outdoor revival.

Here are some of the big, he-man's drama that is either in production or already to go the rounds—"Northwest Passage," "Spawn of the North," "Sea of Grass," "Union Pacific" (Cecil DeMille has got away from golden bathtubs in the past year or two and has gone in for the he-man stuff); "Dodge City" which should be a hum-dinger if the real story is told; "The Texans," "The Rains Came," by Louis Bromfield, a former newspaperman and a good one; Kipling's "Kim" and "Stanley and Livingstone."

There's a list of stories that should make some of these tin-pot musicals look like amateur attempts.

Another revival which should hit Hollywood between the eyes is the re-birth of good, old western drama.

The western never has been dropped entirely but there has been far too little of it.

One reason is that it costs a lot of money to drag sound equipment, set it up and make it work satisfactorily "on location." This shouldn't be any handicap when we recall that M-G-M spent several million on "The Good Earth" which was virtually all out-of-doors. Take one-sixteenth of the sum spent on "Earth" and put it into a good horse-opera—a lot of horse-opera, and Hollywood wouldn't be yelling "recession," "depression," et cetera as we have found Miss Parsons deploring of late. Miss Parsons, of course, can see nothing but the producers' side of it all and condemns anything and everything that even mentions "recession" in the movies. But a recession is there, and the producers better face it.

Prof. J. F. Wilson is in the Middle West looking over Merino sheep for the university farm.

'IN OLD CHICAGO' AT WEST COAST

"In Old Chicago" now is showing at the West Coast theater after being hailed as one of the "big" pictures of the year.

The production has Alice Brady, Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche in the leading roles with Andy Devine, Brian Donlevy, Phyllis Brooks, Tom Brown, Sidney Blackmer, Berton Churchill, June Storey and Paul Hurst in support.

Henry King directed. More than 3000 extras appear in one scene in which five city blocks are burned down. The film tells the story of the lives and loves of a mid-West pioneer family in dramatic manner.

"Island in the Sky," the second feature, brings together Gloria Stuart and Michael Whalen.

Film Writers Ask Collective Status

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Regional labor board hearing was reopened yesterday in connection with the request of the Screen Writers' Guild that it be declared sole collective bargaining agent for writers in dealings with motion picture studios.

The hearing was reopened before Alvin J. Rockwell of New York, sitting as special trial examiner, to admit new evidence about the recent California incorporation of the guild.

Breakfast Is Given At Yacht Club

The summery setting of the Newport Harbor Yacht club was chosen today by Miss Edith Cornell for a delightful spring party, a bridge-breakfast at which she entertained two dozen friends.

Clever little miniature landscapes centered each table, and not only contract, but all the charming diversions of an afternoon near the beautiful bay were enjoyed by the guests.

Miss Cornell was assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. Warren Fletcher. Her guests included Mrs. Arthur May, Mrs. Leonard C. Swales, Mrs. Aubrey Glines, Mrs. Ferris Scott, Mrs. E. B. Schulhof, Mrs. Marguerite Hill, Mrs. Warren Fletcher, Mrs. Bernice Fletcher, Mrs. Mervyn Bryte, Mrs. Carl Sanborn, Mrs. Frances Humphrey, Mrs. William Dodd.

Miss Dorothy Mayhew, Miss Elma Dunlap, Miss Hazel Nell Bonus, Miss Viola Tummond, Miss Mildred Tummond, Miss Opal Davis, Miss Hazel Thrasher, Miss Esther Rideout, Miss Lota Blythe, Mrs. David Small of Fullerton, and Mrs. Gary Barnett of Long Beach.

Choosing a quotation from Gissing, "It is because nations tend to stupidity and baseness that mankind moves so slowly; it is because individuals have a capacity for better things that it moves at all," Mrs. Jack Valley will bring her final afterthought of book reviews for this year to Ebelle club Monday.

The interesting literary bill-of-fare for the day includes "Why Meddle in the Orient," "The Politics of the Labor Movement in America," "The Education of a Diplomat," "Glass Houses," "Poet's Life," "The Flying Yorkshireman," "Promenade," "Sleep in Peace," "Free Land," "Swiss Sonata," "Concert Pitch," and two plays, Sidney Howard's "Ghost of Yankee Doodle" and "Shadow and Substance," by Paul Vincent Carroll.

LOVELY TEA GIVEN BY JAYSEE COEDS

Pioneers honored nearly sixty-five mothers, faculty members, and friends yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Ruth Budd, 1511 Durant street, when members of that Santa Ana Junior college service club entertained with their annual tea.

Lovely corsages arranged by Miss Dorothy Norwood were presented each guest by Present Mrs. Snyder in a navy blue sheer formal with white lace and club advisor, Mrs. Wayne Bartholomew in printed silk. Miss Budd wore a white formal over green and her mother presided in black.

Tea was poured by Miss Pauline Cave in orchid chiffon over pink and Miss Nevalie Ropp in white with a bright red jacket. Other hostesses during the afternoon were Miss Catherine Cooper in canary yellow chiffon, Miss Merle Swingle in pale blue, and Miss Margorie Vollmer wearing pink lace.

Miss Anna Mae Archer was general chairman of the tea. Bowls of full blown talisman roses filled the rooms, with yellow tapered accenting the flowers used at the tea table. Miss Maxine Huber played piano selections and Miss Nina June Robertson sang a solo accompanied at the piano by Miss Phyllis Krock.

Faculty members and wives who were present at the charming affair included Mrs. Frank Heald, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Mrs. John H. McCoy, Miss Agnes Todd Miller, Miss Lella Watson, Mrs. Jennie Tessman, Mrs. John Mason, Mrs. Grace Knipe, Mrs. Elia Cottrell, and Miss Lillian Dickinson.

TWO BIRTHDAYS ARE CELEBRATED

The dual birthday anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. William Sackman on May day occasioned a delightful little family dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Clark Sackman, their son and daughter-in-law.

Gathered for the pretty event, characterized by lovely carnations and roses and one large white-candled birthday cake, were the honored guests, another son, George Sackman of Alhambra with his wife and two young sons, George Willet and William Ralph, and the host and hostess.

Mrs. William Sackman is anticipating another visit from the Alhambra family tomorrow for Mother's day, and at that time her daughter-in-law will also visit her own mother, Mrs. Otto Hoffman, at 1537 West Sixth street.

DINNER HONORS MR. MACHANDER

Ernest Machander was honored at a birthday dinner party given at the home of Mrs. Machander's mother, Mrs. E. B. Murphy in Orange last night. A lovely birthday cake was brought in as a climax to the dinner.

Present for the family affair were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Machander and son, Neal, Mrs. Edna Machander and Carl Latham.

CHAT AWHILE with BETTY

A final tremendous spurt of energy in every activity is evidenced before summer's customary social hibernation. The calendar is jammed with parties, meetings, benefits, teas, fiestas, dances and what else do you think of? To say nothing of weddings and children's diseases.

Petite Frances Howard, daughter of the H. J. Howards, and Richard Honer, son of the Allison Honers, have measles. Little Pete Russell is recuperating from mumps. And the George Spielman household has been visited by chickenpox, having successfully finished a scarlet fever stage. And three-year-old Alice Harvey came down most unpropitiously with a severe case of flu just in time to keep her mother home from a very intricate Syrian pastry recipe in order to have quite authentic refreshments at the last third of the benefit party to be given May 25 at the Elftstrom-Scripps-Flint homes. They took one lesson from an adept, Mrs. Zaklet, who, with her family, live in the turreted castle-like home on North Park boulevard which I have often wondered about.

Rose Marie Flint, Mildred Spicer and Katherine McDaniel are bending their energies these days to concocting exact duplicates of a very intricate Syrian pastry recipe in order to have quite authentic refreshments at the last third of the benefit party to be given May 25 at the Elftstrom-Scripps-Flint homes. They took one lesson from an adept, Mrs. Zaklet, who, with her family, live in the turreted castle-like home on North Park boulevard which I have often wondered about.

Two lovely floral surprises came with a week full of more questionable ones. One, a bundle of chrysanthemum plants from sweet Mrs. E. B. Sprague to fill in a sorely vacant garden, and the other my favorite crimson roses from Mrs. Edward Walker, who is now up and about again after a most peculiar accident. She fell off her stove! Explanation was that she was pursuing an elusive cobweb.

Elaine Williams continues to have her sessions of family illnesses but is anticipating an overflowing garden within the fortnight, after many laborious and loving hours of digging and weeding. On the sick list for a couple of days were Mrs. Marguerite Borgmeyer and friendly Mrs. H. T. Dunning. Mrs. Milo Tedstrom is in the last stages of a terrific and enervating cold, but soothed by the prospect of attendance at each of the four weeks' opera season in Los Angeles.

TWO MEMBERS WELCOMED BY CLUB

When members of the Tustin Book Review club met this week at the home of Mrs. Ernest Harwood they had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Orlo Householder review "Assigned to a Venture," by Irene Kuhn, clever newspaperwoman.

Two new members, Mrs. P. C. Brooks and Mrs. J. A. Mason, and one guest, Mrs. Worth Alexander, were welcomed to the affair and it was announced that Mrs. Matson will be hostess in June.

Present other than those mentioned were the Mesdames Charles Marshall, A. F. Forman, O. L. Northrup, S. H. Long, J. H. McCalla, Lee L. Huneston, O. W. Householder, J. H. Ebersole, Calvin Duncan, E. S. Casey, and E. R. Burns.

BRIDGE GUESTS GET CORSAGES

Mrs. Lawrence MacKeown entertained at a lovely dessert bridge party at her home, 1314 South Parton street, to which two tables of guests were invited. Corsages of sweet peas and forget-me-nots were presented to guests as they arrived.

Prize for high score at cards went to Mrs. Clyde Skinner; for second high to Miss Mary Craig, and consolation to Miss Ann Flannigan. Present at the delightful party were the Mesdames Bertram McCullum, Leon Windolph, Charles Turner, Clyde Skinner, Kirby Ferguson, Miss Ann Flannigan, Miss Mary Craig and the hostess.

CLUB ENJOYS BRIDGE LUNCH

Mrs. C. B. Hill served a delicious luncheon to her club members yesterday at her home on Newport road, Tustin, at a table beautifully decorated with rosy petunias and sweet peas.

Present to enjoy the pleasant afternoon of conversation and lunching were the Mesdames Louis Luhn, J. L. Allen, George Perkins, C. M. McCain, H. L. Stone, Dr. Mabel Vance Tremain and Mrs. A. W. Dula as a guest substitute.

CHILDREN GET THEIR REWARD

Fifth grade pupils of Lowell school who are in Miss Bernice Menders' class were entertained at Birch park Friday afternoon, as their reward for obtaining the most new P.T.A. members during the year.

Hostesses of the afternoon were the Mesdames Clyde Trusty, Dale Griggs and Charles Clark, who served refreshments to the children.

Helen Ogle and her sprout, Dennis, are spending the week in the mountains. Margery Adams Belman and her teacher-husband, Ivan Belman, are going to spend the summer in Mexico City having fun. Bob and Frances Fernandez are having a gay sojourn in their mountain cabin over the week-end. I understand that those two beautiful gals, Florence Turner and Lorraine Thurlow, are planning a vacation trip to Honolulu. . . . and that the lovely redhead, Jessie McClain, whose married name escapes me, is visiting the home folks here. . . . and that the Calvert Norlands, also planning a Mexican trip this month, have a collection of more than 1000 photograph records! . . . Marjorie Saunders of Denver, a willow weaver, is houseguest of her cousin, Thelma Stauffer, and the latter's dumpling daughter Shirley, looks more like her cousin than her mama.

Horse Show activities have swamped the town, with beautiful ladies invading the fields of adorning. Likable John McKittick has been high-pressuring the merchants in most commendable fashion as to tickets, and most superlative trophies have been received to date. A honey of a Scotch-plaid set of china, complete to the dozen, is the latest donation, and will go to some lucky person.

Word was received yesterday that those three cute sisters, the Crabtree girls of San Diego, 18, 16 and 14 respectively, will participate in the show again. They have a de luxe trailer for

PRETTY BRIDE

Above is the new Mrs. Lawrence Trickey, until last week Miss Ethel Chaffee, descendant of a prominent county family. The young couple, both students at Santa Ana Junior college, were life-long schoolmates, and were married at a quiet ceremony in Las Vegas.

SUMMER BRIDE INSPIRES PRETTY PARTY

Complimenting Miss Iris Crawford, who is to be the bride of Roy Ross this summer, Miss Vera Getty was hostess at a charming party Thursday night, with guests showering pottery on the bride-elect.

At card games prizes were won by Miss Lorraine Crawford and the honoree, and the evening ended with a refreshment course. A novel moment was arrival of a telegram directing Miss Crawford where to search for her gifts.

Participating were Miss June Tway, Miss Aline Simmons, Mrs. Marvin Stroud, Miss Velma Stroud, Mrs. Ina Marshall, Mrs. Vera Sarver, Miss Lorraine Crawford, Mrs. George Crawford, Mrs. Francis Keaton, Mrs. John Jacobs, Miss Eloise Jacobs, Miss Margie Denie, Mrs. Janet Martin, Mrs. Fred Dawson, Mrs. Ross McNeil, Mrs. Curtis Vaughn, Mrs. J. O. Guldge, Mrs. W. L. Getty, Mrs. N. C. Dawson, Miss Beverly Dawson and Miss Ruth Whitney.

VETERANS HAVE DINNER MEET

Veteran Rebekahs served another of their appetizing dinners at noon Friday in Odd Fellows hall with a good attendance. Following the dinner the regular monthly meeting was held in the dining room at tables beautifully decorated with bougainvilleas and nasturtiums. A social hour closed the afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Kuhl was chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner. She was assisted by the Mesdames L. B. Talbot, Anna S. Tingley, Delores Goodwin, Viola Fipps, W. F. Pilgrim and Isabelle Tucker.

themselves, and an additional trailer to hitch on the back of that for their horses. With an old couple to accompany them, take care of the horses, and cook for and chaperone the girls, they trek back and forth across the country from their mountain to horse show. A very quiet sight.

Today's very popular Garden Tour gave me the opportunity to glimpse intimately Mrs. C. F. Smith's lovely walled-in garden, a marvel of perfect blooms and planning. Also to see for the first time Florence Stevens' de-lux brown-striped coat, in yesterday's Journal's picture.

Other lovely glimpses of the week—Mrs. C. E. Bressler presiding over a tea-table, and Mrs. Theoby White making a reappearance after a long retirement. Here and there: the James G. Scripps of Seattle are visiting this week with cousins John and Betty. . . . the Ray Chenders and more, contemplating a week-end together at Gilman Hot Springs. . . . Shame on my brow, or rather that of Operator X 17, who told me the Ernest Phillips were leasing their house. Twam't true. . . . The Lynn Crawford are moving to a lovely new home on West Washington street. . . . Charming newcomers to town, although long known, are the Louis Danzes of Anaheim. . . . Dr. W. E. Dixon on Spurgeon street has a most heavenly blooming azalea. . . . The Tohy Whites have a brilliant idea, that of filling in vast spaces of the old divided parlors with smart knotty pine panels. . . . Lucky for Marie Timmons she broke her left finger instead of her right arm right now while she's spending eight hours a day at the Horse Show office. . . . Mrs. Hans Wahlberg looking very Gainsboroughish in a plumed hat and flesh-georgette topped creation. . . . Mrs. Terry Stephenson with daughter-in-law Betty in tow, inspecting spring fashions. . . .

Mona Summers Smith, that popular socialite-book reviewer-actress-librarian, and Verna Ramsey, returned yesterday from Berkeley where they completed their university library course, and were back at the Fifth and Sycamore street building Monday.

ANSWER TO A BURNING QUESTION

CIRCLE LOSES TWO MEMBERS

Mothers' Child Study club met this week at the home of Mrs. Nyl Hurd, enjoying a discussion of mental hygiene for mothers held by Mrs. Loren Spencer.

Enjoying the dainty refreshment course served to conclude the affair were the Mesdames John Adams, J. W. Fraley, Bud Dras, Herbert Hayson, Ernest Hill, Nyl Hurd, V. O. Kiser, Kenneth Loughton, Guy T. Maties, Rex McGill, C. R. McGowan, Fred Ray, J. E. Sims, Loren Spencer, Josh Wilson, Forest White, Cotton Bennett and William Humphreys.

The group reluctantly accepted the resignation of Mrs. Dras, who moves to Los Angeles this month with her family.

Another member, Mrs. McGowan, is leaving soon to spend the summer in Detroit, and in her honor a delightful tea was given by the Circle recently in the home of Mrs. Fraley. As a parting gift, the group presented her with a handsome traveling case.

Among Spring Brides

On the right is Miss Dorothy Grace of Garden Grove, who is to become the bride of Albert Mittman on May 15 at a quiet home ceremony. She has been the inspiration for several showers lately, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Grace.

May Wedding Forecast At Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Chester W. Baxter this afternoon made formal announcement of the betrothal of their daughter Mary Anne to Bayard Ellwood Lindley, manager of the Goodrich Silverton store of Hollywood.

News was told at a delightful bridge luncheon when guests at the Baxter home found dainty Cecil Bruner corsages to which were attached little scrolls bearing the couple's name and the date of May 27.

Assisting Mrs. Baxter were Mrs. John Deck, mother of the groom-elect, and Mrs. F. C. Whitson. Guests at the charming affair were Miss Phyllis Gerrard, Miss Janet Diehl, Miss Patricia McClure, Miss Mary Tutthill, Miss Martha Tutthill, Miss Marian Hawk, Miss Lois Murray, Mrs. Clyde Hill, Jr., Mrs. Douglass Ferry, Mrs. Irvine C. Chapman of Fullerton, Mrs. T. V. Talbert of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. Kenneth A. Hunt (Farla Nell Clayton) of Laguna Beach.

Miss Baxter is a graduate of Santa Ana Junior college and Stanford university of the class of 1937, and since that time has been employed at Bullock's Wilshire store. Mr. Lindley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Deck of Santa Monica, was graduated from Santa Ana Junior college, the University of Utah, and Santa Barbara State college.

TRIPLE-PARTY IN DRIVE HOMES ATTRACTS MANY

Though nearly three weeks away the novel "Round the World" benefit party which is being staged May 25 by Riding and Travel sections of Ebelle club, is attracting much attention, and Mrs. John P. Scripps, general chairman, today stressed the necessity for those wishing tables or individual tickets to call her at once.

The party will start at the lovely home of Mrs. E. F. Elftstrom at 1912 Heliotrope drive, where a dessert course will be served following an Oriental theme. Guests will then step next door to the home of Mrs. Scripps, where bridge will be played amid Hawaiian decorations. At 4:30 p. m. the party will cross the street to Mrs. Calvin Flint's attractive home where an Hungarian-Syrian tea will be served.

Working with Mrs. Scripps on the affair will be Miss Mildred Spicer, Mrs. Elftstrom, Mrs. Flint, Mrs. Charles McDaniel, Jr. and Mrs. Chester Horton, as well as other section members.

BEACH PARTY ENJOYED BY BRIDGE PLAYERS

Concluding an interesting winter session of Friday morning contract classes, a little group enjoyed a pleasant beach party at the Babson home of Mrs. E. A. Watson Thursday.

A potluck luncheon and bridge occupied the hours, with high prizes going to Mrs. Herbert Krahling and Mrs. Henry Pankey and low to Mrs. Porter Luther.

Present were the Mesdames J. B. Martin, Clara Dugan, Joe Burke, S. A. Jones, L. E. Allen, W. W. Armstrong, Walter Hickey, F. E. Moore, John Harrison, Porter Luther, Florence Traile, L. Wakeham and Nell Hunt.

INTRE-SE MEETS

Mrs. Harry Leahy was hostess to the Intre-Se club at a delightful luncheon given in her home, 519 South Sycamore street yesterday. Ten Junior Ebelles drove to Los Angeles this morning to join Miss Elizabeth Smith, president-elect, and Mrs. Fred Burlew, official delegates of the local club to the state convention at Hotel Biltmore, Los Angeles, for the final session and luncheon today.

Miss Smith and Mrs. Burlew, the latter alternating for Mrs. Albert Harvey who was unable at the last minute to attend, were present for the opening session yesterday and stayed overnight.

Today's delegates were Mrs. E. Lee Smith, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, Mrs. Stanley Norton, Miss Mary Tutthill, Mrs. Walter Bacon, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. Frank Curran and Mrs. Hubert Gohres.

ALTAR SOCIETY PLANS SALE

St. Joseph's altar society met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Haupt on Garfield street with Mrs. Robert Sandon, president, presiding over the meeting which was attended by 30 members.

Mrs. Edward Klatt gave a book review during the afternoon. The hostess was assisted by the Mesdames William Collins, B. L. Holderman, Harvey Groover, and Lawrence Haupt. Plans were talked over for the cooked food sale to be held May 14 at Urbine's meat market.

Two Join As Luncheon Hostesses

A perfect glory of beautiful roses of every hue greeted guests of Mrs. J. E. Liebig and Mrs. Roy Hall when they entertained at the first of a series of parties yesterday in the Liebig home.

Crimson Hadleys predominated in the fragrant arrangements and many of the lovely blossoms were brought the hostesses by Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank.

Jaunty little white dancing figures tiptoe on mirror plaques and outlined with dainty Cecil Bruner rosettes centered the luncheon tables, and Mrs. Liebig and Mrs. Hall were assisted in serving by Mrs. I. F. Landis, Mrs. Richard Couden, and Mrs. Don Andrews.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's play prizes were awarded Mrs. Paul Dinsmore and Mrs. Maxwell Burke.

Burke.

Miss Marybelle Gulick, niece of Mrs. James L. Allen, was incentive for a gay kitchen shower this week given by Miss Arlene Sorensen, cousin of the groom-elect, Howard Faccou.

The pleasant affair was held in the home of the hostess at 820 South Van Ness street, fragrant with roses and sweetpeas. At parlor games, prize-winners were Justine Krock, Phyllis Krock, Camille Krock, and Ida Neilson.

Late in the day tables were arranged in pink and white, with little place-cards adorned with tiny pieces of a miniature teaset. At the refreshment time, Miss Gulick opened her pretty and practical gifts.

MISS EQUEN IS BRIDE IN SOUTH

Miss Augusta Equen became the bride on Sunday May 1 of Dr. J. L. Lemberg in the old colonial home in Columbus, Miss., where she has lived all her life. Miss Equen has been a frequent guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry Westover of this city, and is well-known here.

Miss Dorothy Westover, daughter of Mrs. Westover, went to stay with her aunt six months ago, following the death of the mother of Miss Equen and Mrs. Westover. At the wedding, Dorothy was her aunt's only attendant.

The bridal couple have chosen New York City for their honeymoon trip, while Dorothy is in boarding school until the close of the term, and will return home to Santa Ana the last of the month.

MCKINLEY P-T. A. executive board will meet Wednesday, May 11, at 7 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Elmer Christiansen, 708 South Main street. Co-hostess in serving a dessert course at that hour will be Mrs. Albert Garthe.

Mayday Rites Revealed At Gay Party

Announcement of the marriage of their daughter, Emma Belle Fowler, to Clois Purvis, was made at an evening party which took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fowler, 1128 South Flower street, and at which Mrs. Fowler was hostess.

After guests were seated the doorman rang and two little flower girls, Dolores Banks and Betty Lou Fowler, walked in carrying May baskets filled with corsages for all the guests, to which were attached scrolls telling of the Las Vegas wedding on May first.

Excited comment attended the news that the bride had worn a white organza frock with gardenia corsage, and had been attended by the two mothers, Mrs. Fowler and Mrs. E. L. Purvis.

At cards later prizes were given Miss Lois Straub, Miss Marian Bradley, and Miss Norvada Dixon, and typically springlike decorations were carried out in the dainty refreshment course served.

Guests of Mrs. Fowler and her daughter were the Mesdames E. L. Purvis, Richard Bragg, Milo Ainsworth, Raymond Bori, Jerry Lowell, Edwin Magill, Oscar Kitto, Malcolm Baldwin, C. E. Fowler, E. I. Fowler, O. F. Fowler, P. V. Banks, and Armand Faccou.

OPEN HOUSE FETES GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ackerman were honored guests at a reception given this afternoon by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stephens, to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The two couples received in the pleasant Steinberg home at 2454 Riverside drive from two to five o'clock, with J. R. Stephens, Jr., the only grandson, greeting guests at the door.

The bride of 50 years ago wore a smart black after-dinner frock with white lace bodice, and her daughter was in a hostess gown of pale blue crepe. Each wore a gardenia corsage, while golden flowers decorated the rooms and the tea table. A group of sub-debs assisted in serving and pouring, including Miss Jane Hoiles of Santa Ana, and the Misses Lulu Be Harrington, Gerry Day, and Betty Cohegan of Hollywood.

A majority of the guests were Hollywood friends, where the Ackermans lived until three years ago. Previous to their residence there they lived in Richfield, Kansas. Since 1935 they have made their home with Mr. and Mrs. Stephens.

The handsome tea-table was covered with a satin damask cloth which was used at the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mrs. Ackerman's mother and father. Among those attending from Santa Ana were Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Le Sourd, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Church, Mr. and Mrs. Chester McDonald, the Rev. and Mrs. O. Scott, McFarland, Mrs. Emma Prettyman, and James Torrance.

KITCHEN PARTY GIVEN FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Marybelle Gulick, niece of Mrs. James L. Allen, was incentive for a gay kitchen shower this week given by Miss Arlene Sorensen, cousin of the groom-elect, Howard Faccou.

The pleasant affair was held in the home of the hostess at 820 South Van Ness street, fragrant with roses and sweetpeas. At parlor games, prize-winners were Justine Krock, Phyllis Krock, Camille Krock, and Ida Neilson.

Late in the day tables were arranged in pink and white, with little place-cards adorned with tiny pieces of a miniature teaset. At the refreshment time, Miss Gulick opened her pretty and practical gifts.

Present other than the four prize-winners were Barbara Faccou, Mildred Nordstrom, Irene Jennison, Genevieve Campbell, and Ida Bergsetter. Arriving for the tea and shower hour were the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. H. F. Faccou, and his three aunts, Mrs. Christine Faccou, Mrs. Walter Sorensen, and Mrs. Soren Sorensen.

EIGHTSOME IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Helen Cappelen gave a charming little luncheon party for her club at Daniger's this week, after which the group went to her home at 624 South Broadway for contracts.

At the time that prizes were awarded Mrs. H. C. Maxwell and Mrs. C. P. Laxton, a shower of pretty kitchen accessories was given Mrs. Harry Wilson, who has recently moved into a new home in Fullerton. Others present were Mrs. Arno Stoval, Mrs. J. R. Stebbins, Mrs. J. B. Price, Mrs. C. P. Laxton and Mrs. Robert Gamble.

Orange Pair Wed At Church Rites

St. John's Lutheran church in Orange was scene of the wedding of Miss Helen Drinkgern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Drinkgern, to Elmer Eggers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eggers, all of Orange, Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Favorite colors of the bride, pink and white, were used in flowers and tapers which decked the church. The Rev. A. C. Bode, pastor of the church, read the rites.

The bride chose white mousseline de soie for her gown, with sleeves, bodice and tiny bolero of Chantilly lace. The same lace fashioned the cap which held the train length veil. Her bouquet was of gardenias, lilies of the valley and fern.

Miss Lucille Drinkgern, her sister, was maid of honor, dressed in turquoise mousseline de soie, and Mrs. Alvin S. Schmetgen and Miss Lucille Elitiste, the latter of Anaheim, were bridesmaids. Both were dressed alike in peach mousseline de soie.

Theodore Hopmann presided at the organ. Arthur Eggers, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Alvin Schmetgen and Ronald Drinkgern, the latter a brother of the bride.

Afterward a dinner was served to members of the bridal party and their families at the Valley Memorial hall adjoining the church, at which time John Hart Stout played several violin solos and a duet was sung by Miss Lucille Drinkgern and Ronald Drinkgern.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Drinkgern, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin S. Schmetgen, Mr. and Mrs. John Eggers, Mrs. Eggers in navy blue lace with white gardenias.

The couple left for a honeymoon in the northern part of the state, the new Mrs. Eggers in a smart blue wool suit, pink blouse and blue accessories, and corsage of gardenias from her bouquet. They will be at home in about two weeks in their lovely new home, 153 South Waverly street.

The bride is a graduate of Brighton, Colo., high school, and has been affiliated in the offices of the Southern California Telephone company for the past five years. The bridegroom graduated from St. John's Lutheran church, Orange high school, and is employed by M. Elitiste and company of Anaheim.

TOROSAS MEET TO SEW AND PLAN EVENTS

Torosas sewing circle met at the home of Mrs. Emma Cochems Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. Laura Sanborn and Mrs. Ada Spencer as co-hostesses. Plans were made for the bazaar and cooked food sale to be held June 8 in the I. O. O. F. hall.

The monthly card party will be held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ada Spencer, 814 South Broadway, with Mrs. Gertrude Butler, Mrs. Nannie Meyers and Mrs. Ethel Brown as co-hostesses. Bridge and five hundred will be played, and a door prize will be awarded. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Alice Polhurst who has been in Detroit, Mich., for the past year, was a guest at the meeting. She has returned to Santa Ana to make a home for her father, E. E. Charles at 1054 West Fifth street.

Present at the meeting were the Mesdames Laura Johnson, Berne Laubsch, Anna Scott, Kate Perkins, Mary Schmetgen, Leon Talbot, Frankie Johnson, Martha McKee, Hattie Cozad, Helen Peters, Minnie Squires, Lydia Robinson, Nannie Myers, Alice Tolhurst, Mary Kuhl, Gertrude Butler, Laura Trammell, Isabel Tucker, Mary Ann Knox, Jean Tremble, Eleanor Pickel, and Mary Cooper.

Mrs. Cochems home was decorated with lovely bouquets of carnations, sweet peas and roses.

SMART FROCK THAT KEEPS TOT COOL

MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9717
Let your youngster romp and frolic to her heart's content for this easy-to-make frock will keep her cool and comfy right through the summer. In Pattern 9717 the side panels are cut to fall in a soft cap over the shoulder and the yoke and center panel are cut in one. This means a minimum of effort in cutting and stitching. For "best," we suggest a dimity or lawn with tiny ribbon bows on the bodice and with lace edging the sleevelet and yoke. For play, you'll want it in practical printed cotton, spiced with tie-dye and buttons. Add a small round collar if you wish. Panties are included in pattern. Complete Marian Martin diagrammed sew chart is included.

Pattern 9717 may be ordered only in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6 requires 2 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards ribbon. Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coin preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and state. Styles to please, every feminine fashion—for tot, for Junior-Miss or Matron... all designed for easy making at home! Write today for this book. Price of book fifteen cents. Book and pattern together only twenty-five cents.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana.

MARY : HAMPTON

Will Help You
With Your
Clothes
Problem.
Write Her!

It is almost travel time again—and such a lot of funny wardrobe mistakes we do make—which might have been avoided!

Do you know, in all my years of traveling I have never heard a single woman say, "I should have brought more clothes along!" But I wish I had 10 cents for every time I have heard the unhappy groan, "Oh, I brought too much!" Most women never wear two-thirds of the things which stuff and weigh down their travel cases. And nearly every one of us gets into a favorite outfit which fits comfortably and looks conservatively nice—and then forgets to ever get out of it!

Then there seems a world-wide temptation to take "night does" along—you know the nice cardigan sweater-jacket, or the little rose print, or the comfortable old white Oxford which we never wore once last summer because they didn't make us feel quite right at home. And yet we feel that, far away from home, some mysterious need will turn up. Yet the moment the trip begins, and a world of smartly dressed women stimulate our pride and challenge our energies—nothing becomes further from our needs than a half-worn, run-down old make-shift.

A lot of misery and mistake surrounds the handbag too. You see, no traveler ever went globe trotting who didn't accumulate a bulging bag of special letters and hand lotion and powder puffs and gadgets. And the fatter the handbag grows, the more troublesome it becomes to upset all those contents upon the bed, and then to shove them into another purse of suitable type and color for another costume. So most travelers just grab up the same old sturdy bag. But if the whole wardrobe revolves around a single color theme, that bag can go on and on tastefully. But if it is brown—and you change to black! Oh—oh!

Travel handbags should be three things—very large, very sturdy leather and with handle. For no bag is ever really large enough in the end—and it certainly must "take it" on any sort of traveling. And the moment always comes when the wind blows your hat off and your arms are full of precious shopping discoveries—and if that handbag has no handle, it falls into a mud-puddle or perhaps the sea!

No travelers to far parts should ever start out in too new shoes, either! Shoes should be not only super-comfortable (because you just will not wear uncomfortable ones anyway) but pre-worn and tried! Nothing is quite as bulky, annoying and useless as uncomfortable shoes!

And believe it or not, the most perfect of wardrobes can be upset and almost spoiled by stocking accidents. And accidents there will be! So take a generous over-supply of hose in the right shades. They are a smart traveler's wisest investment! And it is not hard to do the miser's stunt and hide away an extra pair or two in the back of the trunk drawer!

KVOE

Notes of interest for the local audience. These program notes are in addition to the regular program notes which are published in the Journal every day at 8:30 a. m. 12:30 p. m. 5:00 p. m. 7:30 p. m. 11:30 p. m.

George Fischer, the "inside fact" man of Hollywood, again reaches KVOE and air lanes of the West Coast tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 with stories of the doings of the film great.

One of Fischer's recent film scoops was that bride Betty Grable confided to the commentator that she knew her husband, Jackie Coogan, did not receive his estate from his mother, Miss Grable, now starred in Hollywood productions, is standing by Jackie in his efforts to regain the fortune he made on the silent screen. Interestingly, Fischer's "Hollywood Whispers" Club is growing by the thousands each week as a result of his nation-wide broadcasts.

Interesting projects conducted by three members of Orange County 4-H clubs will be described during Monday afternoon's broadcast from KVOE at 12:15 and conducted by Assistant Farm Advisor Ross E. Crane. The boys who will take part in the broadcast are Gerald Urm of Tustin, San Joaquin Hills, Santa Ana and David Flaherty of Santa Ana.

Broadcasts made in cooperation with the Farm Advisor's office of Orange county are made from KVOE every Monday at the same hour.

Further adventures in the thrilling career of Bart Colby "The King" will be heard on KVOE and the Mutual-Don Lee Network tomorrow night at 9:30. The popular Federal Theater of the Great Pacific Southwest will lead the career of the Mississippi's fighting mystery man. Plot is laid in the picturesque days of steamboating on the Mississippi.

"The Bible Treasury Hour" conducted by Tom Westwood and featuring the Gospel Singers will originate in KVOE's studios tonight at 10 o'clock following their visit to the Calvary church of Santa Ana earlier in the evening. The broadcast comprises hymns by the singers and a non-sectarian spiritual message by Tom Westwood who has made many friendly listeners with his broadcasts from KVOE.

The microphone-labeled million, all employees of one gigantic corporation prominent in American industry, will again be featured in presentation of "Musical Steelmakers" on KVOE and the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting System facilities tomorrow afternoon at 8:15.

Sara Rehn, soprano soloist, the "Steel" sisters, the "singing million" and the "Musical Steelmakers" orchestra combine talents to present the tuneless half hour under direction of Walter Patterson. The program originates in the beautiful Scottish Rite Cathedral, Wheeling, West Virginia.

"It rests the mind, the body and the soul," said one listener to "Songs at Eventide," heard on KVOE Sunday nights at 9 o'clock. And indeed it should, for this unique all-request program is sacred and secular songs sung by G. Willard Bassett, with Ruth Armstrong at the console of the pipe organ, is most conducive to a peaceful mind and a respite from feverish activities.

Tomorrow night, in response to many requests, the following songs will comprise "Songs at Eventide": "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," "Blessed Quietness," "Thank God for a Garden" and "Mother O' Mine."

John J. Anthony again directs a parade to the microphone under the weekly "Good Will Hour" reaches radio waves of the West Coast through facilities of KVOE and the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting System, tomorrow night at 6:30.

The "Good Will Hour" originates in the Mutual's New York studios and brings the voices of people from all walks of life, of all creeds and colors to the radio listeners of the nation.

The program, designed as one of the unique human interest features of the air, provides a source of advice to hundreds of unfortunate annually, each being given individually at time by Director Anthony at the Mutual.

"Good-Will Hour" began as a program on but three stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System on January 23. Creating tremendous interest and meeting popularity, the hour was transferred to the complete nationwide system of the Mutual-Don Lee network on April 24.

"House of Melody" again opens its doors to Pacific coast lovers tomorrow night at 7 o'clock on KVOE under the leadership of the noted violinist-conductor Cy Tombo.

With comments and a story by Mel Ventor to punctuate the music, "House of Melody" will ring with the colorful music of outstanding composers and also present renditions of popular songs by popular artists of the western air waves.

The Columbia network's ambitious series in the interest of good-will between the Americas will be opened by Secretary of State Cordell Hull from the Pan-American Union hall of the Americas tomorrow from 11:00 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Secretary Hull is to talk on "Economic Cooperation in the Americas," the theme of the series, and read a message from President Roosevelt. Six ranking diplomats from as many South American countries are to be heard in this country during the broadcast through relays of short-wave pickups. They will speak in Spanish and their remarks are to be translated into English as they pause in the studio.

The navy band will play the various national anthems as a salute to the speaker about to talk. This is the first of five international programs.

Hugh Herbert, film comedian, and Charles Leeb, who had himself shipped in to a Hollywood studio in an effort to crash the movies, are guests of Peg Murray on the Bakers' broadcast tomorrow.

Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard furnish music for the broadcast over the KECA-NBC blue network at 3:30 p. m.

"Haven of Rest" Locally Heard

By TOM E. DANSON
"HAVEN OF REST" TO KVOE
A new and already popular program and a change of time for one of KVOE's features mark Monday morning's schedule.

"The Haven of Rest," established for nearly seven years as one of the most listened-to programs on the air, with "First Mate Bob" of the "Good Ship Grace" and his crew will be heard on KVOE Mondays through Fridays, beginning next Monday morning at 8:45. This will be welcome news to the many who have heard this group and have enjoyed their songs and comforting, philosophical talks.

"The Monitor Views the News," previously scheduled at 8:45, will be heard at 10 o'clock in the morning, Mondays through Saturdays.

THE MOUNTAIN ROYS

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

By JOHN HIX

BROADWAY'S THEATERS ... carry nearly every stage show New York has to offer. In this region are located more theaters to the square mile than any other location in the world, in spite of the fact that during recent years motion pictures have forced the "live" shows to take a back seat in the entertainment field. In the Times Square district 10 years ago 79 playhouses were operating; last year there were 44.

This season only 30 stage plays were running in New York City—and of these only two opened on the "Main Street of the Theater"—Broadway.

What may be the fate of the stage on Broadway in the future is a matter of conjecture. Broadway, regardless, will continue to live in the minds of millions as headquarters of the theatrical world.

Banking
Business

NEW YORK.—I wish I knew something about money, banking and credit so that I could agree with Jesse Jones, or dispute him just as noisily, on his warning that the banks had better take the rubber band off that blanket roll of theirs and let a few bills into circulation if they don't want to be taken over. But all I know is that the banks have got so much "scratch" as they call it around the horse yards, that a man who wants to squirrel away a little money for safe keeping these days is treated like a safe-blower or a customer at the peep-hole of an old-time speakeasy.

They want to know where he got it, why he doesn't spend it, why he doesn't take it to the rival bank down the block instead of picking on them, how long he expects to store it and how long it has been since his last deposit.

They limit the amount he may keep on ice in a savings account, and, further to discourage the fine old virtue of thrift, they pay less than he could earn by betting on a favorite in a New York hand-book. It is no harder to wheedle a $2 touch out of a pawnshop on an old banjo or trombone than to persuade a New York savings bank to accept $10,000 cash money.

And when they print their totals these figures read like the score by innings of a seventeen-inning game called on account of darkness. Yet, as Mr. Jones says and as honest Harold Ickes, the house dick of the administration, complained a few months ago, if a man wants to borrow a dollar saw to pay his alimony or open a new saloon they bar the doors, man the peepholes and warn him that at his first false move they will blow him through.

GOVERNMENT BONDS

Meanwhile, through Jim Farley's post office, all over the country, Henry Morgenthau is shoving out government bonds on the credit of an institution which is practically in the hands of the sheriff right now, and people regard these bonds as gift-edge investments even though they know the government's cuff has been scribbled clear up to the shoulder.

People who would holler "robber!" and storm the doors of a private corporation to demand a reorganization if they saw the chairman bite the ends off a cigar have complete confidence in the I.O.U.'s of a concern which, under their own eyes, has built boulevards leading to nowhere at ten times the fair, efficient cost and in Florida recently pays $150 a month to a woman to supervise a "survey" of the value of the tourist trade, although the woman's family income is around $200 a week.

They do this in the spirit of the gambler who played the money wheel because it was the only wheel in town. What else is there to do with money? Put it in insurance, maybe? Then what are the insurance companies going to do for income with so much money around that the banks are almost on the point of charging a fee for dead storage? Put it into action in business investments? All right, what investments, with business men all singing the blues and the administration threatening to use the borrowed money to start a subsidized rival peanut stand to undersell and destroy every private peanut stand in the country.

INVESTMENTS
I just wish Mr. Jones or the hick dick would tell me some day about some good private investments in which an investment would pay a safe 5 or 6 per cent or some respectable gamble in which the people with all this fall money could get the same action at the same odds that they would face betting on the black and red. Of course, if they won on the latter they might have to kick back as much as two-thirds to the federal and state kitties—a factor which reduces the odds from the neighborhood of even money to something like 4 to 3. But no matter, people who do have any money haven't had any action for so long that they are almost ready to bet on automobile numbers.

I had some money last year and bought some of Henry Morgenthau's mavericks through Jim Farley, even knowing that the boys would then turn around and give it away, some of it busted people in need of eating dollars, but a lot of it, too, to people like that money who gets $150 for "surveying" the tourist business, whose husband draws $350 and her son, I believe, $175 from the state. But that's me. I even play slot machines, although I once saw an autopsy on one.

THE BRIDGE OF TOMORROW
"The bridge of tomorrow" now in service on the grounds of New York's world fair of 1939 is specially designed in yacht-like form. It has "hull," rails and abutment finished in clear-varnished fir. Flooring of Celotex squares and the upper side of a canopy are covered with aluminum paint, while the steelwork is painted blue. The bridge, among the first fair structures to be completed, connects the second floor of the administration building with the site of one set of gates in the central exhibit area of the exposition.

When I got back to the office, the editor says "Well did you interview the senator?" I says "Yes." He says "What did he have to say?" I said "Nothin'" the editor said "Well, go ahead and write up the interview but try to hold it down to a column and a half."

The latest plan to organize a protection district to provide against possible damage from the Santa Ana river, setting forth the main objections, petitions carrying 1247 names of property owners opposed to the organization were read before the board of supervisors.

Attorney R. Y. Williams, for the petitioners, made a brief talk, setting forth the main objections as being the increased amount of work and responsibility to be saddled on the supervisors. City Attorney H. G. Ames of Anaheim also spoke for the petitioners.

LONDON.—Terror prevails throughout the London district as suffragettes are beginning to make good their threats to use bombs. They also are carrying out their threat to punish the clergy for opposing suffrage. St. Catherine's church, a $100,000 edifice in South London, was destroyed by an incendiary fire today, and Ada Ward, suffragette, was arrested on charges of placing a bomb in the fashionable Grand hotel, crowded with tourists.

SACRAMENTO.—A proposal to divide the state of California into the Tehachapi pass, naming the northern half California and the remainder South California was made in a resolution introduced today in the senate by Senator Sanford of Utah, Democratic national committeeman and official jester of the legislature.

Peace Treaty, Neutrality Act Violated by Selling Arms to Germany; Career Boys Authorized It

WASHINGTON.—The extent to which the state department career boys have gone pro-Nazi is illustrated by amazing discoveries made in connection with the proposed sale of helium to Germany.

Quiet search of the state department's files shows that the United States has been violating the treaty of Berlin by shipping arms, ammunition and war supplies to Germany.

Furthermore, it has been violating the neutrality act of Aug. 31, 1935.

It is shown that this was a willful violation, the guilty officials are subject to removal from office and prosecution.

Basis for this is the fact that article 170 of the 1921 treaty with Germany provides that "Importation into Germany of arms, munitions and war materials of every kind shall be strictly prohibited."

That this provision is fully recognized by the Roosevelt administration was announced by Secretary Hull on Sept. 18, 1934, when he called attention to a previous letter to an airplane manufacturer stating that in view of article 170, "This government would view the export of military planes from this country to Germany with grave disapproval."

However, just a year later, Mr. Hull's diplomats apparently forgot all about this, for on Oct. 10, 1935, they began authorizing the shipment of war materials to Germany.

Since that date, and up until March 31, 1938, a total of $1,669,905.11 worth of munitions have been licensed by the state department for shipment to Germany.

In taking this action, Mr. Hull's career boys deliberately flouted the neutrality act of Aug. 31, 1935, which established a national munitions control board, specifically providing that export licenses should not be issued in any case "where exportation of arms, ammunition, or implements of war would be in violation of a treaty to which the United States is a party."

NO DIRIGIBLES
The state department went further than this in proposing violation of treaty relations with Germany by the sale of helium. Apparently the career boys forgot that article 198 of the 1921 treaty between the United States and Germany provided: "No dirigibles shall be kept."

Since then congress has passed an act permitting the sale of helium subject to the discretion of the secretary of the interior. But Secretary Hull has been most insistent in cabinet meetings that helium be delivered to Germany. He has maintained that Germany contracted for it and therefore must have it.

Secretary Ickes, however, has stood pat. He has pointed out that the helium act specifically provides that "the secretary of the interior may refuse to approve any application for the purchase of market helium" when he considers his approval to be "inimical to the best interests of the government."

Now that it has been disclosed that sale of helium to Germany would be in violation of a treaty, it is even more likely that Ickes will stand in its path.

BLOODHOUNDS

There is nothing Senator Bob

LaFollette hates more than having society ladies come up to him at dinner parties and say: "Oh, Senator, please tell us about your bloodhounds. We hear that you are terribly fond of them."

The senator makes a wry face and explains that he has no bloodhounds, that a long time ago he had one, and never has wanted to see one since. This one was given him by ex-Senator Harry Hawes of Missouri when it was a pup, before LaFollette knew that bloodhounds go to alarming proportions.

This bloodhound became a bull in a china closet. It knocked down the furniture and the LaFollette children and everything else in sight. So finally the senator gave it to Attorney General Ralph H. McLean of Wisconsin, who in turn passed it on to a man in the Wisconsin Conservation department, where it would have the great outdoors to turn around in.

But by this time the dog's reputation had grown, until some people in Washington thought the senator spent his spare time chasing escaped convicts over the Virginia countryside with his pack in full cry. And society women still come up to him and say: "Oh, Senator, how ARE all your bloodhounds?"

FREE CRUISES
The new cadet system for training merchant marine officers initiated by the U. S. Maritime Commission puts an end to a neat little graft that for many years enabled the relatives and friends of shipping executives to enjoy free summer cruises with pay.

The law authorizes ships to carry several men in their crews to train as officers. The purpose of the act was to encourage young men to enter the merchant marine as a career. But as it worked out in actual practice, the provision was used by shipping officials to give their friends free trips with pay.

Seamen have long complained against the system, charging that it was depriving them of jobs while at the same time it had not produced a single officer.

The Maritime Commission put an end to the graft by the simple device of requiring all cadets to be graduates of state nautical schools or otherwise qualified, and to be approved by it before they can sign up as cadets.

George Ade, in one of his travels, happened to stay at a country hotel where there happened to be a convention of clergymen. They were very much amused when Mr. Ade's identity was disclosed to them, and one of them said: "How does a humorist of your stamp feel in such reverend company as this, Mr. Ade?"

"I feel," said Mr. Ade, "like a lion in a den of Danies."

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 400 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

"GREAT AGINER"

To the Editor: Well, the son of his father has spoken and the sound thereof was great. Gov. LaFollette has established his reputation as the Great Aginer. He is agin' capitalism, Socialism, Communism, Fascism and slavery. He did not mention feudalism and we might, inferentially, conclude that he favors this economic system as they include all the systems man has conceived. He belied, in the most approved demagogic manner, about all the social wrongs and inequities that everyone is aware of and deplores, but when it came to suggesting remedies, he just was not there.

His speech was a masterpiece of generalities, evasions, contradictions and absurdities. He says, "that the real division is not between capital and labor but between the earners on one side and the collectors on the other," yet he advocates that work be done by small contractors at a profit.

He says, "that our way out can come only through organized national action," but he denounces governmental agencies when engaged in constructive work because there "may be more political pull than engineering push." He gives the impression that if we have confidence in the LaFollette family and God, all will be well.

FRANK SIMPSON.

THEY SHOULD VOTE

Foes of wage-hour legislation, at the moment, have the upper hand. But if the reform idea in the current congress is not to be for lack of leadership on the part of the President.

At a time when many congressmen are hoping to avoid a showdown on the issue, to save themselves embarrassing in the coming elections, Mr. Roosevelt has again called for action—this time in a letter to Chairman Norton of the labor committee, who has charge of the wage-hour bill in the house.

President recognized that the house rules committee was within its parliamentary rights when it voted against advancing the wage-hour measure to the house floor. He refused to pass on the merits of the specific bill pending, but he has backed up Mr. Norton's insistence that the whole house membership be given an opportunity to vote on the legislation.

After a "full and free" debate, the President said, the house members must vote to amend the bill, or send it back to committee, or pass it, or defeat it. Then, whatever the result, the house members will have met their legislative responsibility, will have made their records to take back to their constituents.

Since there is little chance of the committee changing its mind, the only way to get the bill to the floor is by a discharge petition signed by 218 members. That number of signatures should not be difficult to do something along this line, at least to protect working women and children.

The bill which Mrs. Norton is now trying to get before the house, in our opinion, is the best type of wage-hour measure yet advanced. It eliminates bureaucratic discretion, and simply puts a floor under wages and a ceiling on hours, starting at 25 cents an hour and 44 hours a week and graduating in three years to 40 cents and 40 hours.

Some Democrats and some Republicans prefer a different type of bill. Some are opposed to any wage-hour legislation. But no action can be taken for or against this bill, or any other type of the bill, so long as the legislation is held up in committee.

Here is an issue that has been long before congress, and certainly the time has come for the house members to stand up and be counted.—San Diego Sun.

IS IT WORTH THE PRICE?

The last 30 years, says Secretary of State Jones, the cost of state government in California has been multiplied 10 times.

In 1910, when the state had a population of 2,556,047, expenditures amounted to $43,628,298. Now we have a population of 6,576,000, and state expenditures of about $463,000,000, says Mr. Jordan, exclusive of federal aid of various kinds.

We have better roads, better education, better aids to health, we take care—after a fashion—of the old, the blind and the needy. But do we do it 10 times better?

Is there 10 times more of it? Perhaps few really know the answers, but we'd like to hear from folks who can provide the 30-year comparison.—Ventura Star.

I met William Desfor the other day as he emerged from the publicity department of the National Broadcasting company. Mr. Desfor is the artist who photographs the radio celebrities you see in your papers. He told me that the public would be disappointed if celebrities were photographed natural. Most of them are quite ordinary people. The photographer who has the inspiration of an artist in his soul can take even a drab, mundane person and give him glamour and distinction in a photograph. We all expect celebrities to look brilliant. If they are, we don't expect them to look beautiful. We don't like a photograph that shatters our dreams and destroys illusions. I saw this illustrated year ago.

WASHINGTON'S HOME

I was driving out to see George Washington's famous home at Mount Vernon. On the way out, I stopped at Alexandria, Va., and visited the Masonic lodge where George Washington functioned as master. The guide who was taking us through showed us a picture of Washington that had been painted by an artist who had known him and worked with him in the lodge. This picture showed Washington to be an old man with sagging pox marked cheeks. (Of course, it is a well known fact that his cheeks were scarred from small pox.) The picture was heroic or brilliant in that painting. Then the guide turned to another painting in the back of the room—the painting from which the engraving is made that appears on a dollar bill. The artist who painted the engraving of Washington was Gilbert Stuart. This portrait depicts Washington as we like to have him. So the guide who was taking us through told us he had been taking tourists through that famous building for 15 years. He said he would show them the real picture of Washington, but the people would always turn their back on the real one and look at the one which they liked. The artist who painted the engraving of Washington was Gilbert Stuart.

SHARE OF GRIEF

We usually think of people who have achieved success as having been without trouble or grief. Penetrating the lives of those who have climbed to the top, we find that this is not so. Owen Davis, who has made millions of dollars writing plays, says: "My life has not been all happiness. We, my wife and I, have had our share of disappointment. But as I look back, the bright spots do not seem so bright and the dark spots do not seem so dark. The whole fabric looks like one of those old rag carpets of my mother's time, woven of bits of crimson and blue, of yellow and black, blending in a sort of harmony and softened by time. In the whole, I have found life very, very good, and (quoting the title of his autobiography) 'I Like to Do It Again!'"

Bright Moments

Alexander I, when emperor of Russia, had strange tastes, unfamiliar to the Russian people. One night, when a ship in which he was sailing on a lake near Archangel was caught in a bad storm, he said to the skipper: "My friend, more than 1800 years have elapsed since a Roman general placed a shield on his shoulders, said to his pilot: 'Fear not for thou hast with thee Caesar and his fortunes.' I am, however, less bold than Caesar; I therefore charge thee to think no more of me than of thyself and do thy best to save us both."

Giving Them Another Chance

Reader asks why The Journal refuses to publish the names of boys and girls under 18 involved in lawbreaking. We are glad to explain.

It is a matter of principle with this newspaper to avoid publicity branding youngsters as criminals.

Such a brand frequently makes it impossible for authorities and parents to correct the erring child. It's the old case of "give a dog a bad name."

Juvenile court authorities recognize this principle in that they refuse to issue the names of minors charged with lawbreaking.

The Journal voluntarily withholds the names of minors under similar circumstances, and it believes that the policy is fully justified if even one boy or girl thereby is saved from public disgrace and given a chance to straighten out.

A Day You Shouldn't Forget

There's one bit of sentiment at this time of year which we thoroughly endorse—it's Mother's day.

The stony-hearted cynics who sneer at Mother's day as just a racket for florists, candy shops and telegraph companies can jump in the lake for all we care.

Mother's day is simply the one-day observance of fine, human companionship without which this world would be a dreary place indeed.

Observation teaches that most mothers put far more into that companionship than do the children. And that mothers deeply appreciate some tangible sign of sentimental gratitude from their offspring.

Whether it's a gift or a card or yourself that you present to mother tomorrow, you'll be glad that you remembered not to forget.
